

Answering Pope Francis' Call to Serve One Another with Compassion An Advent Day of Reflection with Jack Jezreel

*"The world tells us to seek success, power and money.
God tells us to seek humility,
service and love."*

God speaks not only in the silence of our heart, but even more so in the people around us.

Answering the Pope's call to serve one another with compassion is an exciting and rewarding way to develop our relationship with God.

Jack Jezreel is the founder of JustFaith Ministries, which creates and supports formation processes intended to inspire commitment to social mission. He is a popular and well-traveled speaker and teacher, sometimes described as the "Johnny Appleseed" of the U.S. Church's social mission. He lives in Louisville, Kentucky, has a ridiculously large garden, is married with Maggie, and they have three adult daughters.

We will spend the day exploring Pope Francis' call more deeply. We hope by the end of the day, we have a clear sense of how we are called to be sent into the world to be people of faith, compassion, and good works. The question is this--- how do we become the hands, eyes, feet, and heart of Christ in the world?
