

Patrick Hickey – Risk Management Representative

Patrick has worked as an attorney for over a decade and began his career with firsthand experience in liability litigation, including injury, workplace death, and workplace employment practice cases.

His subsequent legal work focused on maintaining legal compliance and managing a high-volume portfolio of cases in an exacting and high risk regulatory and legal environment. This work included managing staff, monitoring work products for compliance, and building relationships in a wide variety of courts.

As a property and casualty insurance agent, his work focused on governmental entity insurance, concentrating on service and educating customers on all aspects of risk management. He is additionally a Certified Insurance Counselor.

Patrick believes that in all things, the keys to success are clear goals, strict professionalism, a collaborative attitude, and respect for absolutely everyone you meet, no matter how adversarial the context.

Patrick Hickey earned a degree in political science from the Ohio State University and a Juris Doctor from the University of Toledo College of Law.
