WSBC 2018: Six Days of Group Conscience

More than 180 delegates from around the world gathered in Albuquerque, New Mexico USA for OA's 57th annual World Service Business Conference this April 23–28. Seventeen countries were represented: Australia, Austria, Brazil, Canada, Costa Rica, England, Germany, Greece, Ireland, Israel, Mexico, New Zealand, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, USA, and Venezuela.

Workshops and discussions this year focused on the theme "Growing OA Recovery Worldwide" and included five supporting workshops: "Combining the Strengths of Virtual and Face-to-Face Meetings," "Building a Foundation of Strong Abstinence and Sponsorship," "Building Healthy Service Bodies," "Sharing 'Carrying the Message' Successes and Challenges," and "The Glue That Holds Us Together: Service, Traditions, and Concepts."

Delegates also participated in this year's interactive Forum titled "Recovery Roadmap: Growing Recovery

Virtual Region to Become a Reality

— Dora P., Virtual Region Trustee

One vote taken at World Service Business Conference 2018 was particularly special for members whose recovery is tied to virtual OA meetings. A new region was approved: the Virtual Region! The dream of a virtual region is coming true, and soon our virtual meetings will have the same opportunities that face-to-face meetings have, including tying in to our Seventh Tradition contributions and having our chair join the Region Chairs Committee to work and learn alongside them and give service to OA.

WSBC delegates also approved reclassifying virtual service boards as virtual intergroups, just as land-based groups can form an intergroup. (OA virtual groups are growing as a whole, with more than five hundred meetings and nine virtual intergroups as of May 2018.) The name "virtual service board" was problematic for countries with national or language service boards, and this new designation better describes how these virtual service bodies fit in the OA service structure, so this is a good change for OA worldwide.

In another important vote at WSBC, delegates passed Bylaw Amendment Proposal One, which now allows virtual groups to actively participate with a voice and a vote in national and language service board assemblies, even if these virtual groups are affiliated with virtual intergroups and the new Virtual Region. Further, virtual groups can choose to affiliate with either virtual or newly named "land-based" (i.e., face-to-face) intergroups. This important change strengthens the group conscience in non-English-speaking areas primarily served by national or language service boards. Lots of hands in the Reference Subcommittee meetings helped refine this motion and all members deserve thanks for their service.

In recent years, OA virtual services has had progressive opportunities to be integrated into the OA service structure. In 2014, email loops were recognized, and the virtual meeting category has grown since then to necessitate a brand-new registration category: non-real-time meetings. In 2016, WSBC delegates approved the Virtual Services Conference Committee, which in 2017 launched oavirtualservices.org and a quarterly newsletter to share ideas, support OA members who attend virtual meetings, and help carry the message of recovery. After years of intense work, I am so excited for our new Virtual Region to be fully realized in 2019!

Virtual OA service bodies need and want to work together with land-based service bodies to carry the message of recovery—we are one OA!

A Message from Our Chair

— Cyndy L., Chair of the Board, Region Four Trustee

This year's WSBC theme, "Growing OA Recovery Worldwide," was a favorite of mine. I love the concept of growing because it easily translates into the work I do to maintain my gardens. Spring is the time for renewal, and I spent time cleaning up the flower beds, removing old leaves, and pruning back the winter kill so the plants will grow stronger and healthier.

When I think about my experience in OA, I can also see how it is sometimes necessary to look at what was planted in the past and what needs to be done to prepare for the future. For my personal growth, I work the Steps and look for things that need to be changed. For my service to OA, I need to be willing to reach out in new ways and give more energy to supporting my group, my intergroup, my region, and WSBC.

The same holds true for OA as a Fellowship, so the Board of Trustees and two ad hoc committees are taking a big-picture look at what OA has planted and what needs to be changed to ensure our Seventh Tradition of self-support grows stronger and healthier. As a board, we are responsible for serving the entire Fellowship and still-suffering compulsive eaters worldwide.

But there is also a need for members like you to open yourselves to change and look at ways you can support the whole: What can you do to invite someone to a meeting? What can your group do differently to make newcomers feel welcome? What can your intergroup do to support the groups in your area and help OA members grow through service beyond the group level? If you have a national and language service board, how can it more closely support its groups and intergroups? How might participation at the region and world service levels serve your local area?

"There is a need for members like you to open yourselves to change and look at ways you can support the whole: What can you do?"

Are you isolated in recovery or an active part of the whole?

I like to say that giving service expands my spiritual life. Instead of feeling "above or below other people on some imagined ladder of worth," I am put in touch with my true place: "on equal footing with our fellow beings and in harmony with God" (The Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions of Overeaters Anonymous, Second Edition, p. 52).

I am called to humility, the spiritual Principle of Step Seven, when giving service. Lessons like these are open to anyone who gives service, and I'm certain that everyone who gives service to our Fellowship can relate. And the same is true when we practice the Twelve Traditions of Overeaters Anonymous; we learn to work in harmony with those who share our love of OA.

Looking for new ways to keep our organization growing stronger and healthier is our big-picture challenge. I trust that our collective Higher Power will lead us in the direction of efficient and effective ways of carrying the message of OA to the still-suffering who are looking for a solution. I ask each of you to take inventory of what you are doing to share what you have found in the rooms of OA. That is how we will "Grow OA Recovery Worldwide," with one new member at a time.

I look forward to these next eleven months in anticipation of the work that will continue. In love and service.

OA Welcomes Anyone Who Has Used or is Considering Weight-Loss Surgery

At WSBC 2018, delegates voted to adopt a new policy statement to make it clear that OA welcomes anyone who has had weight-loss surgery or is considering it: "In keeping with Tradition Ten, Overeaters Anonymous has no opinion on bariatric (weight-loss) surgery. In the spirit of Tradition Three, Overeaters Anonymous welcomes anyone with a desire to stop eating compulsively, including those who have had the surgery or are contemplating it."

Now OA Has a Spanish Language Service Board!

— Alejandra S., Chair of the Spanish Language Service Board

It got formed! The Spanish Language Service Board is now a service body to help all Spanish speaking groups and intergroups.

We are members of countries with groups that meet in Spanish, including Spain, Mexico, Costa Rica, Argentina, Venezuela, Colombia, USA, Chile, and others. We have joined to serve our needs and answer our questions. We have joined to:

- Translate and share our literature and documents more efficiently. We have translated 80–90 percent of OA literature.

¡Ahora OA Tienen una Junta de Servicios del Idioma Español!

¡Se formó! La Junta de Servicios del Idioma Español es ahora un cuerpo de servicio para ayudar a los grupos e intergrupos de habla hispana.

Somos miembros de países con grupos que se reúnen en Español incluyendo a España, México, Costa Rica, Argentina, Venezuela, Colombia, EU, Chile y otros. Nos hemos unido para resolver nuestras necesidades y preguntas. Nos hemos unido para:

- Traducir y compartir nuestra literatura y documentos de manera más eficiente.

A Message from Our Treasurer

— Bonnie L., General Service Trustee, Treasurer

My name is Bonnie, and I am a recovering compulsive overeater. At WSBC 2018, I was elected for another three-year term as General Service Trustee, then elected by the Board of Trustees for one more year as your treasurer. I am thankful for the trust bestowed upon me.

Annual Appeal Letter

I am excited about our first-ever Annual Appeal Letter, which has been sent to all groups. This is to be read aloud at three consecutive meetings while members circulate an envelope or basket separate from the normal Seventh Tradition. This separate contribution, which should include your group's registration number, will go directly to our General Fund via the World Service Office.

Group and Service Body Registration Numbers

On the topic of contributions, the WSO receives as many as 150 checks every week. It is very important that these checks have both the group registration number and the service body registration number written on them. This important information is used to assign the contributions properly to your group, intergroup, service board, or region. If you don't know your registration number, go to oa.org/

find-a-meeting to look up your group's details. That may take you five minutes or so, but multiply that time by 150. That's a lot of time—more than a full workday—that our WSO staff could be spending on more productive work. If you need help finding your number, your region chair or region trustee can also help.

"Today we have 270 recurring contributors, but this number pales in comparison to the number of members in our 580 virtual groups."

WSO staff time is very valuable, so the staff no longer traces the source of contributions that do not include registration numbers. What that means is more contributions are being listed as individual contributions rather than being properly assigned to your group or service body. We would like to give your group and service body proper credit, so please help us out. I'm repeating this request, which was also made in January, because we really do need your help with this.

Another convenient way to send group and service body contributions is through oa.org/contribute. Sending contributions online also helps reduce staff time spent processing paper checks.

Automatic Recurring Contributions

One of my goals this year is to increase both awareness of and participation in our ARC (Automatic Recurring Contributions) plan. I encourage everyone to spread awareness among your groups and service bodies. At oa.org/contribute, simply click the first checkbox, which says "Make this a recurring gift." Today, we have about 270 monthly and quarterly recurring contributors, but this number pales in comparison to the number of members in our 580 virtual groups.

Please consider making an ARC if you are not already doing so. Automatic Recurring Contributions are a Seventh Tradition option for all OA members, not just those in virtual groups.

We sincerely appreciate your continued support! Together we can do what we could never do alone.

- Host workshops that help our members, groups, and intergroups.
- Offer help to members, groups, and intergroups.
- Offer sponsorship if someone needs it.

Also, since the World Service Office no longer prints literature in Spanish, we can help your group maintain its Spanish literature stock! We will also make a website with more information and documents in Spanish, including A Step Ahead, Professional Community Courier, OA guidelines, and more.

If your group or intergroup would like to affiliate with the Spanish Language Service Board, simply choose a representative and an alternate to attend our monthly meetings through Skype. The representative and alternate should contact Alejandra S. via WhatsApp at +506 83177443 and include his or her mobile phone number, group or intergroup registration number, and location.

Together we can do what we could never do alone!

(Junta de Servicios del Idioma Español continuado)

Hemos traducido un 80-90 por ciento de la literatura de OA.

- Hacer talleres que ayuden a nuestros miembros, grupos e intergrupos.
- Ofrecer ayuda a nuestros miembros, grupos e intergrupos.
- Ofrecer apadrinamiento si alguien lo necesita.

Además, como la Oficina de Servicios Mundiales ya no va a imprimir la literatura en español, ¡podemos ayudar a los grupos a mantener sus existencias de literatura! Pronto estaremos haciendo una página web con más información y documentos en español, como la revista Un Paso Adelante, el Boletín para las Comunidades Profesionales, las Guías de OA y más.

Si a su intergrupo le interesa asociarse con la Junta de Servicios del Idioma Español, todo lo que necesitan es elegir a un representante y un alterno que puedan venir a nuestras reuniones mensuales por Skype. El representante y el alterno pueden comunicarse con Alejandra S. vía WhatsApp al número +506 83177443 e incluir su número telefónico, correo electrónico, su número de grupo o intergrupo registrados y localización.

¡Juntos estamos logrando lo que nunca pudimos hacer solos!

Rotation of Service Brings New Mix of Trustees, Officers, and Committee Chairs

Delegates to World Service Business Conference 2018 were tasked with the important job of electing three region trustees and two general service trustees. New Task Force: What's Working/Make It Viral Something new at WSBC this year was a short online survey aimed to determine what makes a meeting strong. Asked to think of a meeting they attend regularly that feels strong to them, 123 responding delegates cited four top traits:

- Abstinent members
- A focus on recovery using the Twelve Steps
- Traditions followed
- Available sponsors

The online survey was supported by a sharing and listening session, which generated more details from participants about traits, activities, and specific formats that contribute to strong meetings. Individual responses included:

- Awarding meetings that complete the Strong Meeting Checklist a locally produced "Strong Meetinghood Certificate" from their intergroup (and inviting all meeting members to sign it)
- Following up with newcomers in a tightly structured way that includes having a designated caller, resulting in a 50-percent retention of newcomers
- Encouraging fellowship or one-on-one interaction before or after the meeting through taking walks, going to movies, or other social activities
- Giving Newcomer Welcome Coins and recognition for attending six different meetings
- Using structured meeting formats that include a repeating pattern, such as the Step or Tradition of the month, speakers on specific topics, or a cycle of reading the first 164 pages of the Big Book
- Filling and rotating service positions
- Finding a better location for meetings with dwindling attendance
- Using speakers who meet abstinence requirements
- Using OA-approved literature such as the Big Book and The Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions of Overeaters Anonymous, Second Edition
- Designating leaders to be responsible for helping members keep shares focused and on topic

The Strategic Planning Committee's "What's Working/Make it Viral" Task Force will continue to look at factors that contribute to making meetings strong; they will also plan next steps for surveying the Fellowship. If you would like to add your opinion, take the survey! Find it at www.surveymonkey.com/r/YL6ZRM9. Thank you for your service!

Ask-It Basket

Q. I attended an OA meeting, and after the meeting ended, the leader told about a Facebook group to keep in touch with each other. Is this according to Traditions? Should OA be affiliated with Facebook?

A. I like to ask a different question. Why wouldn't this be according to OA Traditions? The main concern I would have is anonymity. I know that Facebook has the ability to create secret groups that require an invitation to join. WhatsApp has the same sort of thing (I am a member of a WhatsApp private group). When it's properly set up, only members of the secret Facebook group know who the other members are. As a result, public anonymity is preserved, and I believe our Traditions are met.

Regarding your second question, "Should OA be affiliated with Facebook?" I again ask a different question. Are we affiliating by having a Facebook page? I believe the answer is no. We don't affiliate with churches when we hold our meetings in their rooms; we don't affiliate with newspapers when we place meeting announcements on their calendars; and OA pages on Facebook are not affiliation. These things all seem equivalent to me. We are using a service available to the public. Using that service is not affiliation.

I've shared my thoughts with you on these matters. These views represent my own interpretation of our OA Traditions based on my experience in OA and what I read in our literature. I encourage you to discuss these matters with your local OA members too.

Q. We were wondering: what's the official OA policy for using MeetUp.com to promote meetings? We wouldn't allow RSVPs, we would basically just use it to announce meetings.

A. Are you wanting to use MeetUp.com to advertise local meetings? I think this is a great idea! It appears no different than using a church bulletin or any other advertising media. Instead of RSVPs, you could add contact information: your intergroup phone number or even a member's first name and phone number, just as it's listed on the OA meeting page. There are many new, innovative virtual methods our members are discovering and bringing to our attention. This looks like a legitimate way to advertise your meetings. Your membership is anonymous, but the Fellowship is not.

Q. My home group is interested in doing a little more to welcome newcomers. We have the packets and we welcome them verbally—heartily. We are looking for ways to possibly have a pre-meeting meeting for newcomers or bring them to a different room simultaneous to the meeting for more of an intro to the program. I am looking for suggestions on ways to do this, and I figure there are several variations on the theme. Any suggestions or pointers from you would be much appreciated.

A. The first thought that comes to mind is to use the suggested Newcomer Meeting Guidelines posted on oa.org/documents under "Meeting Formats." This gives the newcomer a structure and an idea of what's going on. (I know that sometimes longtimers like to use a shortened version of this format.) For a newcomer, this format provides information. We start with Our Invitation to You, then go on to read the Steps, the Traditions, and sometimes the OA Concept for that month. It includes an explanation of abstinence and a list of the Tools, and mentions sponsors, literature, and our Seventh Tradition. I know from my experience, when I first started in OA twenty-seven years ago, that this format or some variation of it was used at the newcomer meeting. Hearing this every week, and working with a sponsor, helped me gain a better understanding of the program and learn the Steps and Traditions.

There is a meeting in my intergroup that lasts an hour and a half, so at the end newcomers can ask questions. This suggested format is used at that meeting.

When I started in New York, each OA meeting took two hours. There were many more people in the meetings, and halfway through there was a break for fellowship and talking to newcomers. Designated people would welcome them and answer questions. It's also important to have designated members call the newcomer during the week after the meeting. When I was a newcomer, it was a welcomed gesture.

Having a separate room to introduce newcomers to your meeting is a good plan. You can create a welcoming atmosphere and give them your experience, strength, and hope.

Send your Traditions or OA business questions to info@oa.org and get a response from members of the OA Board of Trustees. Read more Q & A at oa.org/documents under "Ask-It Basket and Archive."

From my experience, having a meeting listed as a Newcomer Meeting, having a "newcomer" greeter, and using the suggested format works just as well.

As you know or have heard, "The newcomer is the most important person in the room." I believe giving newcomers that extra love and attention will bring them back.

I know I felt wanted and understood, so I kept coming back.

Try Writing

— Donna R., Urbana, Illinois USA

At sharing time in OA meetings, I sometimes read thoughts I have written down. Sharing thoughts and speaking out loud what I have written helps my recovery.

Other members used to say, "You should submit that to Lifeline." But I thought, "If what I write is rejected, I'll feel rejected" or "What if it isn't good enough?" My fear of submitting to Lifeline was really all about me because I was still living in my disease. I was missing the point, which was, "Wow, that really helped me—I bet others could be helped by it too!"

After a few years, I finally realized what others meant by saying I should submit to Lifeline, so I sent in my first item. It was published in April 2015. Shortly after that, I submitted another and then forgot about it. Today I opened a letter that said my second submission would appear in the March 2016 issue of Lifeline.

I'm telling this story to encourage you to take ten or fifteen minutes to write down your thoughts about something that means a lot to you. We walk in each other's shoes. Others can be helped by what we honestly, willingly—with HP's help—are able to say.

Today, I understand that submitting to Lifeline is not about me. It's about throwing an emotional rope to others. It's about sharing over isolation. By writing what we think and sharing what we write, we speak out loud, just as we do in meetings. After I took the first step, the next seemed easier. I think it could be that way for you too if you will try writing to Lifeline.
