About Pamela Jane Nye and Neuroscience Nursing, Ltd.

This "About" page summarizes Neuroscience Nursing, Inc.'s purpose, objectives and some of the key staff who are responsible for NNI's future success.

This link lets you to access a comprehensive "About Me" file that chronicles my education, teaching and work experiences.

What it doesn't reveal is my growing up in a small Iowa town; ignoring the warnings about California earthquakes; driving 3,000 miles with no job waiting; no place to live; and only $1,500 in savings!

Fast forward to today, the end result was my having been blessed with so many opportunities to achieve; living a good, healthy, productive and comfortable life while, at the same time, achieving all of my career goals ... and then some.

Something else not explained were my two male companions, Rascal and Chico, giving much needed comfort and inspiration during those early California adjustment years.

Neither does it explain the decision to retire from my wonderful Stroke Coordinator position at UCLA Santa Monica Hospital, or the decision to reestablish my Neuroscience Nursing, Inc. symposium business.

Simply put, I wanted to use my remaining productive years pursuing the never ending challenge of "making a difference" in other nurses lives. I want to "pay forward" as the saying goes, by helping others to benefit from my diverse nursing experiences. I also want to champion an ongoing public awareness message about nurses as "the unsung, humble heroes of healthcare."

Moreover, from my symposiums, seminars, public speaking and publication efforts, my plan is to donate 100% of all audited net revenue to fund Stroke Coordinator Advance Practice Nursing education.

Lastly, I'm hoping to pioneer some unique, informative approaches to both nurse-related teaching and learning -- and have some fun doing it!

If you are someone, or a company who'd consider joining, or becoming a category exclusive sponsor of my OPERATION: Scrubs symposium's programs, let's start with an email. Tell me who you are, what are you asking or telling me.

Better yet, pick up the phone and give me a call at (800) 627-6156, Ext. 801.

Until next time ...
