LEGISLATIVE DEFENDANTS' MOTION FOR RECUSAL OF JUSTICE ANITA S. EARLS

Pursuant to Rule 37 of the North Carolina Rules of Appellate Procedure, Legislative Defendants Representative Destin Hall, in his official capacity as Chair of the House Standing Committee on Redistricting; Senator Warren Daniel, in his official capacity as Co-Chair of the Senate Standing Committee on Redistricting and Elections; Senator Ralph Hise, in his official capacity as Co-Chair of the Senate Standing Committee on Redistricting and Elections; Senator Paul Newton, in his official capacity as Co-Chair of the Senate Standing Committee on Redistricting and Elections; Representative Timothy K. Moore, in his official capacity as Speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives; and Senator Philip E. Berger, in his official capacity as President Pro Tempore of the North Carolina Senate, (the “Legislative Defendant-Respondents”) respectfully file this Motion for Recusal of Justice Anita S. Earls.

INTRODUCTION

These consolidated cases question the constitutionality of our state legislative district boundaries and the boundaries for the North Carolina congressional districts. On 4 November 2021, the General Assembly enacted S.L. 2021-175 (H. 976 (House)), S.L. 2021-173 (S. 739 (Senate)), and S.L. 2021-174 (S. 740 (Congressional)) (collectively the “Enacted Plans”). The next day, the Harper plaintiffs, represented by Marc Elias and his colleagues, were in court challenging the Enacted Plans. Upon information and belief, Marc Elias and other counsel in Harper are being paid by funds from the National Democratic Redistricting Committee (“NDRC”). This Committee, led by former United States Attorney General Eric Holder, raises money for redistricting litigation. One of their target states is North Carolina – and it has been since 2017. In 2018, Justice Earls received outsized donations from the North Carolina Democratic Party just after the Party received nearly identical amounts from the NDRC. Justice Earls's former firm, the Southern Coalition for Social Justice—a non-profit institution Justice Earls helped establish in 2007 and served as its Executive Director until she resigned to run for her current seat—is also counsel of record for the intervenors Common Cause. Appearing as lead counsel on behalf of the Southern Coalition for Social Justice is Allison Riggs: Justice Earls' long-time colleague, co-author, and friend. Justice Earls has spoken publicly about the importance of impartiality. But because of her record of public advocacy against the Legislative Defendants, any reasonable observer would think she could not be anything but partial to the plaintiffs in this case. Accordingly, for this reason and because it appears that the NDRC—an organization of singular focus on redistricting, in particular redistricting litigation—helped elect her to the bench and is now funding the litigation that is before her and is being bolstered by the advocacy of her long-time colleague, she should recuse from further consideration of these matters.

ARGUMENT

In order to support recusal, a litigant must show “that there exists such a personal bias, prejudice or interest on the part of the judge that he would be unable to rule impartially.” State v. Fie, 320 N.C. 626, 627, 359 S.E.2d 774, 775 (1987). Here, Legislative Defendants assert that there is a financial interest and personal bias on the part of the justice that makes her unable to rule impartially.

Going back to 2018, when Justice Earls was campaigning for a seat on this Court, her campaign committee—Earls For Justice Committee—accepted the maximum amount of individual funds from the National Democratic Redistricting

PAC: then $5,200.00. (See Exhibit 1, excel spreadsheet of 2018 Third Quarter contributions to Earls for Justice Committee, page 92, line 3831). The National Democratic Redistricting Committee (“NDRC”) also endorsed Justice Earls for election. <https://democraticredistricting.com/eric-holder-endorses-anita-earls-for-supreme-court-of-north-carolina/>. Upon information and belief, on the same day the National Democratic Redistricting PAC gave Justice Earls $5,200.00 (20 September 2018) it gave $250,000.00 to the North Carolina Democratic Party’s “judicial coordination fund.” During 2018, Justice Earls was the only member of the Democratic Party seeking a seat on the North Carolina Supreme Court. In less than a month after the NDRC’s PAC contribution to the North Carolina Democratic Party, the Party contributed just over $199,000.00 in funds and in-kind contributions consisting of mailers and salaries for the Earls for Justice Committee – an amount equivalent to 80% of the NDRC contribution. (See Exhibit 1, page 92, lines 3837-3840). The Party’s contributions in October were, far and away, the single biggest contributor to Justice Earl’s campaign.

Defendants do not highlight these contributions to argue that they are necessarily unlawful. Rather, these contributions suggest influence—the very concern that as an advocate before joining the bench, Justice Earls argued to the federal court.

[B]ecause the candidates who are benefited by the spending of the 527¹ groups are fully aware of who these large donors are, unlimited contributions to 527 groups can be used as a means of buying access and influence to candidates and officeholders, just as similar soft money contributions to parties previously did.

Finally, there is no reason to believe that this potential for the circumvention of meaningful contribution limits on candidates and parties by the use of supposedly independent committees is a problem that is limited to federal elections. We submit that the experience at the federal level has potential to take place at the state level as well. If supposedly independent political committees are allowed to receive unlimited contributions, donors will use those contributions to buy access to and influence with those candidates aided by the committee. Such unlimited contributions, even if given to supposedly independent committees, create the potential for the same kind of corruption that was at the heart of the Supreme Court's analysis in McConnell upholding restrictions on donations to party committees.

(See Exhibit 2, Amicus Brief of Campaign Legal Center and Democracy 21 in North Carolina Right to Life v. Larry Leake, No. 5:99-CV-798-BO(3)). While Justice Earls authored this brief in 2005, that influence and concern for impartiality envelops then-candidate Earls in 2018. Upon information and belief, the NDRC is a political organization under U.S. Tax Code 26 U.S.C. § 527 and indirectly gave substantial amounts to the Earls for Justice Committee through the North Carolina Democratic Party. These contributions in 2018 were occurring at the same time that Eric Holder, as chairman of the NDRC, was campaigning for Justice Earls' election. <https://www.peacemakeronline.com/former-u-s-atty-general-rallies-for-candidates-and-fair-redistricting/>.

Before 2017, upon information and belief, the NDRC was more aptly known as the National Democratic Redistricting Trust. The Trust, with the aid of attorney

Marc Elias, sought permission from the Federal Election Commission to allow members of Congress to assist in raising money for the trust. (See Exhibit 3, Letter from FEC). The Trust “was established by individuals, but not Members of Congress, to raise funds to pay for the pre-litigation and litigation costs that arise following the next legislative redistricting process.” (Id.) Attorney General Holder founded the NRDC at President Obama’s direction in 2017 to combat the threat of partisan and racial gerrymandering ahead of the 2020 Census and 2021 redistricting cycle. <https://democraticredistricting.com/obama-pelosi-and-holder-deliver-remarks-at-virtual-fundraiser-for-the-national-democratic-redistricting-committee/> As opposed to the Trust, the NRDC is now “the centralized hub for executing a comprehensive redistricting strategy that shifts the redistricting power, creating fair districts where Democrats can compete.” <https://democraticredistricting.com/who-we-are/>

Marc Elias is believed to be heavily involved with the litigation that the NDRC directs and funds. See <https://redistrictingaction.org/news/eric-holder-and-marc-elias-discuss-nraf-redistricting-lawsuits>. He has tweeted support for a report in The Atlantic that noted “Marc Elias, the same Democratic mega-lawyer who headed Democrats’ successful suits in North Carolina and Virginia, is slated to quarterback claims deeper in the South this time—with virtually unlimited funding from Holder’s NDRC.” (See Exhibit 4, 20 September 2021 Tweet of Marc E. Elias). Mr. Elias has also noted that his team of lawyers is working with NDRC and others on cases in, among other states, North Carolina. (See Exhibit 5, 19 December 2021 Tweet of Marc E. Elias).

And the NDRC is targeting North Carolina. North Carolina is one of nine target states of the NRDC affiliated campaign “All on the Line” <https://www.allontheline.org/northcarolina>. This campaign seeks to raise money and awareness for fighting gerrymandering in the nine states. The NDRC further notes that one of its three ways of influence is to back redistricting litigation. <https://democraticredistricting.com/our-work/>. Since its launch, “NDRC and [its] affiliate organizations have successfully backed challenges to gerrymandered maps in Virginia and North Carolina.” Id. The NDRC notes that it is presently executing its three-part plan to target the “redistricting landscape” through litigation, mobilization, and accountability in North Carolina. Id. To that end, Chairman Eric Holder commented on the Enacted Plans the day they passed. <https://democraticredistricting.com/statement-from-eric-holder-on-north-carolina-general-assemblys-passage-of-gerrymandered-maps/>. The very next day, Marc Elias and others filed their action in Wake County Superior Court on behalf of the Harper plaintiffs.

Following the appeals from the three-judge superior court’s determination to deny preliminary injunctive relief to Plaintiffs, this Court interceded before the Court of Appeals and entered its 8 December 2021 Order that: (a) stayed the candidate filing period for any 2022 race; (b) moved all primaries to 17 May 2022; (c) authorized the trial court to shorten a resumed filing period, if necessary; (d) directed the trial court to hold an exceedingly truncated merits hearing and enter its order by 11 January 2022; (e) shortened the thirty-day appeal window to two business days; (f) retained jurisdiction of the appeal (preemptively bypassing the Court of Appeals); and (g) alluded to a hastened briefing schedule before this Court post-appeal. While the Order does not suggest it was entered for a unanimous court, it also does not suggest that any Justice recused herself or otherwise did not participate in the process. Therefore, it is more than reasonable to conclude Justice Earls participated in a decision that halted candidate filing, moved the primary election back two months, established a breakneck merits decision timeline, and authorized a truncated filing period for new or previous filers when this Court enters its final order on the proceedings.

Thus, it appears that Plaintiffs, backed by Marc Elias and the NDRC, may be offering the vehicle for achieving the relief the NRDC has been focused on for years. The NRDC effectively funded the single greatest (far-and-away) contribution to the election of Justice Earls and—as one of their focused three-pronged attacks on redistricting in North Carolina—is now, upon information and belief, financially backing the Harper litigation before this Court.

Further, plaintiff-intervenors Common Cause are represented by the Southern Coalition for Social Justice (“SCSJ”)—an organization that according to her biography on this Court’s website, Justice Earls helped create in 2007. Justice Earls left her position as the Executive Director of the SCSJ in December 2017 in order to run in the 2018 election cycle for the position she now holds. For over a decade she worked with SCSJ to challenge voting and redistricting legislation from the Republican General Assembly as unconstitutional. Many of her prior cases are prominently featured on the institution's website.

And now, SCSJ is being led in this redistricting matter by Justice Earls' longtime, co-counsel and co-author, Allison Riggs (Justice Earls' article on gerrymandering with co-author and Plaintiffs' counsel, Allison Riggs, is identified on this Court's website). Riggs joined Justice Earls at the SCSJ in 2009 and spent a decade as Justice Earls' co-counsel in litigating redistricting cases against Republican enacted redistricting plans. While the cases Justice Earls litigated alongside Ms. Riggs did not contemplate these specific maps, they deal with the exact same subject matter, legal arguments and adverse parties – these Legislative Defendants.

A judge's high level of connection to her prior colleagues has been sufficient grounds for numerous federal and state trial court judges to recuse themselves from cases involving those former colleagues, at least for a number of years after joining the bench, due in part to a broad reading of Canon 3(C)(1)(b) regarding a judge being disqualified where "a lawyer with whom the judge previously practiced law served during such association as a lawyer concerning the matter." Justice Earls and Allison Riggs were co-counsel in numerous cases challenging acts of the General Assembly, including redistricting litigation that led to the maps used for the 2020 election. Now, Allison Riggs is appearing before this Court as counsel on behalf of Common Cause in this redistricting challenge.

Finally, Justice Earls has publicly made clear her disdain for the Legislative Defendants during her time as a redistricting plaintiffs attorney and judicial candidate. For instance, in her speech at the “Unrig the System Summit” in early 2018, see The American People Don't Need a Rigged System | Anita Earls - YouTube, Justice Earls described how, after five years of litigation, the federal court struck down several North Carolina’s districts as racially gerrymandered but “[u]nfortunately they have been replaced with partisan gerrymandered districts.” Justice Earls noted that “[p]artisan gerrymandered districts do not serve our democracy.” Id. Moments later, after energizing the crowd with “don’t distort our democracy,” Justice Earls announced she was running for NC Supreme Court, where Plaintiffs are now asking her to hold that a partisan advantage in redistricting is unconstitutional. Her views on the subject and the Legislature were clear:

Democracy in North Carolina and elsewhere is broken when gerrymandering is unfettered, when money matters more than voters, when election administration is controlled by partisan actors who are willing to manipulate the process for partisan gain, and when legislators are willing to pass laws to make it harder to vote. . . .

Id. Based in part on comments like these, and on her history of opposition to the Legislature, legal commentators have forecast the outcome of North Carolina partisan gerrymandering cases that reach this Court:

When she announced her candidacy, Earls declared that she sought to shield “the right of all citizens to cast a ballot that is counted equally,” a clear reference to partisan gerrymandering. There is no reason to doubt that she and her Democratic colleagues on the court will be prepared to invalidate the current legislative maps when this case reaches their docket.

See <https://slate.com/news-and-politics/2018/11/north-carolina-gerrymandering-lawsuit-anita-earls.html>.

Although this statement was made in 2018 in reference to the partisan gerrymandering challenge by Common Cause, a reasonable observer with knowledge of the circumstances could question the impartiality of Justice Earls' participation in these redistricting challenges. See, e.g. Fie, 320 N.C. at 628, 359 S.E.2d at 776 (identifying the perception of impartiality in the mind of a reasonable person with knowledge of the circumstances as the standard for recusal). These circumstances not only are perceived to violate the Code of Judicial Conduct, under Cannon 3(C)(1)(a) regarding a judge's personal bias or Cannon 3(C)(1)(d)(iii) where the judge is known "to have an interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding," but also implicate constitutional due process concerns. See Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868, 885 (2009) ("Due process requires an objective inquiry into whether the contributor's influence on the election under all the circumstances would offer a possible temptation to the average judge to lead him not to hold the balance nice, clear and true.") (cleaned up); Williams v. Pennsylvania, 579 U.S. 1, 8 (2016) (On a due process inquiry "[t]he Court asks not whether a judge harbors an actual, subjective bias, but instead whether, as an objective matter, the average judge in his position is likely to be neutral, or whether there is an unconstitutional potential for bias.") (cleaned up). To avoid the perceived influence from these circumstances, including the influence that then-advocate Anita Earls argued exists when substantial money flows to a candidate, Justice Earls should now recuse herself from hearing or participating in these redistricting matters that are the targeted litigation of her financial benefactor, the NDRC, brought by her former colleague, Allison Riggs, against her long-time adversary, the General Assembly.

CONCLUSION

Justice Earls should recuse herself from this case.

Respectfully submitted, this the 12th day of January, 2022.

CLERK
US DISTRICT COURT, EDNC

MEMORANDUM OF THE CAMPAIGN LEGAL CENTER
AND DEMOCRACY 21 AS AMICI CURIAE
IN SUPPORT OF DEFENDANTS

The Campaign Legal Center and Democracy 21 respectfully submit this brief limited to the issue of whether contribution limits imposed on independent expenditure political committees (hereafter "IEPC's") are constitutional. For the reasons set forth below, we urge this Court to reject plaintiffs' constitutional challenge to those limits.

BACKGROUND AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Plaintiff, North Carolina Right to Life, Inc., ("NCRL") brought this action in November 1999 challenging the constitutionality under the First Amendment of several North Carolina General Statutes: N.C. GEN. STAT. §§ 163-278.6(14) (defines the term "political committee"), 163-278.13 (limits contributions to candidates and political committees to $4,000 per primary or general election), and 163-278.14A(a)(2) (establishes means of proving that a communication constituted electoral advocacy triggering disclosure and other requirements). More specifically, NCRL challenged North Carolina's definition of political committee on the ground that it unconstitutionally presumed that an entity has as a major purpose to support or oppose a candidate when an entity contributes or expends more than $3,000.00 during an election cycle. NCRL also challenged the $4,000 contribution limit to independent expenditure political committees on the ground that such contributions do not present the risk of quid pro quo corruption or its appearance.

This Court rendered its decision on October 24, 2001, granting summary judgment to Plaintiffs and determining that N.C. GEN. STAT. § 163-278.14A(a)(2) was unconstitutionally overbroad because it impermissibly broadened the scope of express advocacy as defined in Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S. 1 (1976). Specifically, this Court held that § 163-278.14A(a)(2) was unconstitutional because it “does not limit the scope of ‘express advocacy to communications that literally include words that, in an of themselves, advocate the election or defeat of a candidate, as was required in Buckley.” Order of October 24, 2001. This Court also held, in an amended Order of August 8, 2002, that N.C. GEN. STAT. § 163-278.14A(a)(2) was severable from the remainder of N.C. GEN. STAT. § 163-278.14 (which had incorporated 163.278.14A(a)(2)). The Court’s amended Order then went on to hold that the remainder of 163.278.6(14) was constitutional, including the provision that created a presumption of political committee status based on an entity’s expenditures. Thus, this Court’s amended decision rejected NCRL's position that Section 163-278.6(14)’s presumption of political committee status based on an entity’s expenditures violated the First Amendment.

Both sides appealed. The court of appeals affirmed in part and reversed in part. It first concluded that N.C. GEN. STAT. § 163-278.14A(a)(2) was unconstitutionally vague and overbroad under "a bright-line test for determining whether communications may constitutionally be regulated as electoral advocacy." 344 F.3d at 424 (citing Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S. 1, 43 (1976)).¹ The court of appeals also reversed this Court's judgment on what it characterized as a "close question," concluding that the statutory rebuttable presumption used in determining whether a major purpose of an entity may be to support or oppose candidates in N.C. GEN. STAT. § 163-278.6(14) was vague and overbroad under the First Amendment. 344 F.3d at 429. It also concluded that the contribution limit of $4,000 per election that may be made to IEPCs was substantially overbroad and could not be constitutionally applied to a political committee, such as the one formed by NCRL, which had the stated intent to make only independent expenditures. 344 F.3d at 434.

The defendants herein petitioned the Supreme Court to issue a writ of certiorari. On April 26, 2004, the Court granted the petition, vacated the court of appeals' decision and remanded the case to the Fourth Circuit for reconsideration in light of the Court's decision in McConnell v. FEC, 540 U.S. 93 (2003). Thereafter, on September 7, 2004, the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit remanded the case to this Court for further consideration.

¹ Judge Michael dissented, reasoning that the first sentence of the statute should be upheld as "an explicative definition of express advocacy that passes muster under Federal Election Comm'n v. Massachusetts Citizens for Life, Inc., 479 U.S. 238 (1986) (MCFL) and Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S. 1 (1976), but agreeing that the second sentence of the statute should be stricken. 344 F.3d at 436-37 (Michael, J. dissenting).

FACTS²

Plaintiff North Carolina Right to Life, Inc., is a non-profit membership corporation incorporated under North Carolina law, and North Carolina Right to Life Political Action Committee (NCRLPAC) is a longstanding political committee registered in North Carolina as a state political committee for which NCRL serves as the parent entity pursuant to N.C. GEN. STAT. § 163-278.19(b) (2003). In 1999, NCRL resolved “to form a separate segregated fund of [NCRL] to be known as North Carolina Right to Life Committee Fund for Independent Political Expenditures (hereafter “NCRLC-FIPE”) for the sole purpose of making independent expenditures in North Carolina state elections in order to further the goals and purposes of North Carolina Right to Life, Inc.” See Complaint, at Exhibit E. North Carolina law does not distinguish among political committees that make only contributions, those that make only independent expenditures, and those that make both. Nevertheless, NCRLC-FIPE has represented that it intends only to make independent expenditures.

In North Carolina Right to Life, Inc. v. Bartlett, 168 F.3d 705, 708-09 (4th Cir.1999), cert. denied, 528 U.S. 1153, 120 S. Ct. 1156 (2000) (NCRL 1), the Fourth Circuit described the activities of NCRL and NCRLPAC. The corporation maintained in that case that it wished to make contributions and independent expenditures in support of political candidates directly from its corporate treasury without going through its political action committee. The Fourth Circuit held that North Carolina's prohibition against corporate contributions and expenditures in political campaigns could not be applied to ² Nearly all of the facts set forth in this Memorandum were obtained either from this Court's October 24, 2001 decision, or from the 2003 decision of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. See North Carolina Right to Life v. Leake, 344 F.3rd 418 (4th Cir. 2003).

NCRL under its interpretation of the decision in MCFL. Thereafter, North Carolina amended its statutes to conform to the Fourth Circuit's opinion in 1999, and now has an exception that allows NCRL-type entities to make both contributions and expenditures in support of political candidates directly from its corporate treasury. See N.C. GEN. STAT. § 163-278.19(0) (2003). North Carolina has taken no action to change its statutes since the Supreme Court ruled that Congress may prohibit NCRL and similar non-profit corporations from making corporate contributions to federal campaigns. Federal Election Comm'n v. Beaumont, 539 U.S. 146 (2003).

Based on the results of the NCRL v. Bartlett litigation, and according to its representations in this case, NCRL has made contributions and independent expenditures directly from its corporate funds in political campaigns for state offices and wishes to continue doing so. (Complaint pp. 31-32). NCRL may not make contributions to campaigns for federal offices from its corporate treasury, but may make independent expenditures. Beaumont, 539 U.S. at 151, n.2. In the past, it has had both state and federal political committees that can and do make contributions to either state or federal political campaigns. In addition, NCRL has formed a third political committee that it intends will make only independent expenditures. All of NCRL's entities have a history of the same PAC Directors, overlapping treasurers, the same president, and the same membership base.

ARGUMENT

This brief is limited to one issue raised in this case: whether North Carolina may constitutionally limit contributions to political committees which would use those contributions solely for independent expenditures. We submit that the State may do so.

I. McConnell Held that Contributions Made for Independent Expenditures May Be Regulated

In its earlier decision in this case addressing the constitutionality of contribution limits imposed on IEPC's, this Court relied on the Supreme Court's decision in California Medical Ass'n v. FEC, 453 U.S. 182 (1981)(CalMed). In CalMed, supra, the Supreme Court upheld FECA's $5,000 limit on contributions to multicandidate political committees. Initially this Court, and later the court of appeals, reasoned that the decision in CalMed could not be read as authorizing limits on contributions to entities that would use them solely for independent expenditures.

This issue has now been put to rest by the Supreme Court's decision in McConnell v. Federal Election Commission, 540 U.S. 93 (2003). In McConnell, the Supreme Court made clear that in its earlier CalMed decision, the Court had actually upheld limits on contributions to independent expenditure political committees:

[In CalMed], we upheld FECA's $ 5,000 limit on contributions to multicandidate political committees. It is no answer to say that such limits were justified as a means of preventing individuals from using parties and political committees as pass-throughs to circumvent FECA's $1,000 limit on individual contributions to candidates. Given FECA's definition of "contribution," the $5,000 ... limi[t] restricted not only the source and amount of funds available to parties and political committees to make candidate contributions, but also the source and amount of funds available to engage in express advocacy and numerous other noncoordinated expenditures.

540 U.S. at 151-152 n. 48 (emphasis added). As the last sentence makes unmistakably clear, CalMed held that Congress could limit contributions to entities that would use them solely for independent expenditures.

Moreover, the decision in McConnell continues by noting that Buckley and CalMed could not have upheld FECA's broad limit on contributions to party and multicandidate committees without necessarily deciding this point. With respect to party committees, the type of committee at issue in this portion of McConnell itself, the Court wrote in the very next sentence after the passage quoted above:

If indeed the First Amendment prohibited Congress from regulating contributions to fund [express advocacy and numerous other noncoordinated expenditures], the otherwise-easy-to-remedy exploitation of parties as pass-throughs (e.g., a strict limit on donations that could be used to fund candidate contributions) would have provided insufficient justification for such overbroad legislation.

Id. at 152 note 48. In other words, if contributions ultimately used to make independent expenditures had no corruptive potential, the overall limit on contributions to multicandidate committees would have been unsustainable. Congress could have justified the limit only insofar as it remedied so-called "pass-through" corruption and much more narrowly tailored remedies, like "a strict limit on donations that could be used to fund candidate contributions," could have addressed such pass-through corruption concerns. Thus, the overall limit on contributions to multicandidate committees would have been unconstitutionally overbroad if contributions to IEPCs were sacrosanct. McConnell, then, makes clear that CalMed necessarily stands for two propositions previously rejected by the court of appeals: (i) that contributions can corrupt even when they are only used as independent expenditures (i.e., independently of their ultimate use); and (ii) a state may limit contributions to political committees that eventually will be used to make independent expenditures.

McConnell's own treatment of FECA's soft money provisions reinforces both of these CalMed holdings. If contributions that were eventually used as independent expenditures in federal elections posed no corruptive potential—if they were always and necessarily sacrosanct—then the Court would have had to strike down many of the soft money provisions it upheld in McConnell, particularly § 323(a), the “core” soft money provision. Id., at 142. Section 323(a) subjects all funds raised by the national parties to the same contribution limits regardless of their ultimate use – whether for independent expenditures or even advertising that does not mention a candidate at all. Section 323(b) analogously imposes contribution limits on state and local party committees where funds are used to help finance “Federal election activity,” 2 U.S.C.A. § 441i(b) (Supp. 2003), including voter registration, voter identification, and public communications promoting or opposing a clearly identified federal candidate, even if done independently of a candidate. See McConnell, 540 U.S. at 162.

It is true, of course, that independent expenditures have been afforded greater First Amendment protection than coordinated expenditures and direct candidate contributions. See FEC v. Colorado Republican Federal Campaign Comm., 533 U.S. 431, 442, 457-60 (2001)(Colorado II); cf. Colorado Republican Federal Campaign Comm. v. FEC, 518 U.S. 604, 615 (1996)(Colorado I)(opinion of Breyer, J.).³ Nevertheless, McConnell holds that contributions to political parties may be regulated whether ultimately used in coordination with, or independently of, candidates’ campaigns. As an initial matter, McConnell applies deferential review because limits on contributions – including those ultimately used for independent expenditures – do not substantially infringe First Amendment rights of speech and association. See McConnell, 540 U.S. at 138 (“like the contribution limits we upheld in Buckley, § 323’s restrictions have only a marginal impact on the ability of contributors, candidates, officeholders and parties to engage in effective political speech”).

More fundamentally, the contribution’s ultimate use was not the basis for identifying its corruptive potential. Rather, the potential for corruption stemmed from the ability of donors to gain access and influence over candidates as a result of their contributions to a political party. See McConnell, supra, 540 U.S. at 146-148 (influence), 149-150 (access and influence), and 151 (access). In upholding FECA’s central soft money provision, then, McConnell necessarily found that contributions to party political committees can corrupt, even when used for independent expenditures.

The same analysis applies to McConnell’s treatment of FECA’s restriction on the use of soft money contributions by state and local party committees for federal election activities. Section 323(b) restricts the use of nonfederal funds by state and local party committees to help finance “Federal election activity.” 2 U.S.C. § 441i(b)(1) (Supp. 2003). As the Court noted in McConnell, [t]he term “Federal election activity” encompasses four distinct categories of electioneering: (1) voter registration activity during the 120 days preceding a regularly scheduled federal election; (2) voter identification, get-out-the-vote (GOTV), and generic campaign activity that is “conducted in connection with an election in which a candidate for federal office appears on the ballot”; (3) any “public communication” that “refers to a clearly identified candidate for Federal office” and “promotes,” “supports,” “attacks,” or “opposes” a candidate for that office; and (4) the services provided by a state committee employee who dedicates more than 25% of his or her time to “activities in connection with a Federal election.” §§ 431(20)(A)(i)-(iv).

540 U.S. at 162. Significantly, none of these four categories necessarily involves contributions to candidates and categories 1, 2, and 3 necessarily do not unless there is coordination. Thus, if Congress could restrict the use of only those contributions to state and local party committees that the committees in turn contribute to candidates, § 323(b), just like § 323(a), would have necessarily been overbroad and unconstitutional.

McConnell held, however, that Congress could restrict the use of all nonfederal contributions by state party committees “for the purpose of influencing federal elections.”

Id. at 167. The reason was clear. Although these activities might not pose a threat of state and local parties themselves corrupting federal candidates, they would allow the contributors to corrupt through these committees. As the Court explained:

Congress ... made a prediction. Having been taught the hard lesson of circumvention by the entire history of campaign finance regulation, Congress knew that soft-money donors would react to §323(a)[, the national party committee ban,] by scrambling to find another way to purchase influence. It was neither novel nor implausible for Congress to conclude that political parties would react to §323(a) by directing soft-money contributions to the state committees, and that federal candidates would be just as indebted to these contributors as they had been to those who had formerly contributed to the national parties. ... Preventing corrupting activity from shifting wholesale to state committees and thereby eviscerating FECA clearly qualifies as an important governmental interest.

Id. at 165-166 (internal citations and quotation marks omitted). Section 323(b) is premised on the simple “judgment that if a large donation is capable of putting a federal candidate in the debt of the contributor, it poses a threat of corruption or the appearance of corruption.” Id. at 167.

Contributions to non-party political committees are equally capable of putting a candidate “in the debt of the contributor”, and that is true whether the political committee operates at the federal or state level, and whether the political committee actually uses the contributions for direct candidate contributions, coordinated expenditures, or independent expenditures. Contributions to political committees will be used to benefit candidates, and thus can create gratitude and debt to the donors. Moreover, those who make contributions to a political committee, whose chief aim is to nominate or elect candidates, often do so in an attempt to purchase influence. Candidates know where large contributions come from, particularly those that benefit them or harm their opponent, even those made to so-called independent political committees. For the same reason that federal limits on contributions to political committees are constitutional, North Carolina's attempt to impose reasonable limits on such contributions to state political committees in order to safeguard the integrity of the political process is constitutional because its limits are "'closely drawn' to match a 'sufficiently important interest.'" McConnell, 540 U.S. at 136 (quoting Federal Election Comm'n v. Beaumont, 539 U.S. 146, 162 (quoting Shrink Missouri, 528 U.S. at 387-88)).

II. McConnell Requires Reconsideration of Evidence Erroneously Rejected by this Court

McConnell undercuts this Court's earlier holding on IEPCs in yet another way. This Court initially held that North Carolina's limit on contributions to IEPCs was unconstitutional because the State had failed to proffer sufficiently compelling evidence which showed a danger of corruption due to the presence of unchecked contributions to IEPCs. The State, however, had actually proffered such evidence to this Court in its summary judgment papers. See this Court's Order of October 24, 2001 at 25-26. The State, for example, produced evidence that, among other things, an advocacy group "threatened the legislative leadership that it would run advertisements [in] retaliation for votes against the hog industry in North Carolina." Id. at 25.

This Court rejected this evidence, however. Specifically, this Court reasoned:

Defendants claim that this [evidence] supports a finding that allowing unlimited contributions to committees that will run such advertisements will encourage "corruption." However, in Perry v. Bartlett, the Fourth Circuit determined that the Farmers for Fairness group engaged solely in “issue advocacy,” which is speech that is afforded the “broadest protection” under the First Amendment. Perry v. Bartlett, 231 F.3d 155, 158-59 (4th Cir. 2000)(“While Farmers does make expenditures that may incidentally influence ... an election, it does not in explicit words ... advocate the election or defeat of a candidate.”). Therefore, the Fourth Circuit held that the actions of Farmers for Fairness were not “corruptive,” but, rather, constituted protected speech under the First Amendment.

Id. at 25-26. In other words, this Court, following the Fourth Circuit’s decision in Perry, rejected the proffered evidence because it believed “explicit words ... advocat[ing] the election or defeat of a candidate” were necessary to constitute an expenditure and thus implicate the concerns of corruption that are within the reach of campaign finance laws.

McConnell forcefully and unequivocally rejected this view. In upholding the “electioneering communication” provisions of the Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act of 2002, the Supreme Court made clear that no “explicit words” were necessary:

[T]he unmistakable lesson ... is that [the] magic-words requirement is functionally meaningless. Not only can advertisers easily evade the line by eschewing the use of magic words, but they would seldom choose to use such words even if permitted. And although the resulting advertisements do not urge the viewer to vote for or against a candidate in so many words, they are no less clearly intended to influence the election. [The] express advocacy line, in short, has not aided the legislative effort to combat real or apparent corruption, and Congress enacted BCRA to correct the flaws it found in the existing system.”

540 U.S. at 193-194. We respectfully submit that this Court wrongly rejected the State’s evidence on the grounds that “magic words” were not present.

III. Independent Expenditure Political Committees Play A Significant and Effective Role in Influencing Elections

The State defendants in this case will offer facts in their summary judgment papers on the impact that IEPCs , such as plaintiff North Carolina Right to Life, play in elections in North Carolina, and the justification for upholding limits on the amount of money that may be contributed to them by individuals and other groups.

We believe that further support for limiting contributions to state political committees such as NCRL can be gleaned from an examination of the role that 527 organizations have played in federal elections.⁴ As this Court is no doubt aware, 527 organizations are organized for the purpose of making independent expenditures, and thus function essentially the same as IEPC's, although they have avoided registering as federal political committees. While 527's organizations purport to be independent of the major political parties, the evidence is strongly to the contrary. Indeed, the major political parties have played a significant role in the formation of a number of 527 groups.

Two major 527's, the Media Fund (aligned with Democrats) and the Progress for America (aligned with Republicans), demonstrate the close ties between these supposedly "independent" 527's and the national parties.

The Media Fund was organized to aid the Democratic presidential nominee through political advertising. It was formed from a BCRA task force that had been established by the then-Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Terry McAuliffe. This Task Force was comprised of Democratic Party operatives: Harold Ickes, who had served as Deputy Chief of Staff to former President Clinton, and a paid advisor to Chairman McAuliffe, and a Member of the DNC's Executive Committee; Minyon Moore, DNC Chief Operating Officer; Josh Wachs, DNC Chief of Staff, Joseph ⁴ The term "527's" or "527 organizations" refers to the provision of the Internal Revenue Tax Code that governs the tax treatment of political organizations. These are defined by the IRS as entities "organized and operated primarily" for the purpose of influencing the selection of candidates to elective or appointive office.

Sandler, DNC's legal counsel, and former White House officials John Podesta and Doug Sosnik. Mann Declaration at 3.⁵

Two years before the 2004 election cycle, DNC Chairman McAuliffe had discussed with Democratic Party donors the plans to establish the Media Fund, which Ickes later was named to head. Id. Ickes' leadership of the Media Fund, given his extensive ties to the Democratic Party and national leaders in the Party such as President Clinton, established a reliable connection between the Media Fund and the Democratic Party in the eyes of many donors. Even President Clinton encouraged donors to contribute to the Media Fund. Attachment 2, page 8 to Mann Declaration.

For his part, Ickes' fundraising activities fueled the link between the Media Fund and the national party. During the Democratic National Convention, Ickes served as a DNC delegate and visibly made the rounds at the convention soliciting party donors for the Media Fund and circulating with party officials. He even ran the Media Fund's Convention activities from an office in the Four Seasons Hotel in Boston, just down the hall from the DNC's finance division, which focused on large Democratic donors. Though nominally independent from the DNC, the Media Fund was very much aligned with the DNC, and these ties would have been especially obvious to potential large donors. Mann Declaration at 4.

There was a similar alignment between the Republican Party and Progress for America (PFA), another supposedly independent 527 group. Although Republicans started their 527 effort later than Democrats, they too proved themselves to be adept at using this vehicle. As detailed in the Weissman-Hassan study appended to Dr. Mann's Declaration, PFA was initially formed pursuant to Section 501(c)(4) of the tax code and, from its inception, it had close ties with the Republican National Committee, the Bush Administration, and well-known Republican political consultants. Mann Declaration at 4-5.

For example, the founder of PFA was Tony Feather, a partner at Feather, Larson and Synhorst-DCI (FLS-DCI), which had ties to the RNC. Feather picked the former director of the National Republican Senatorial Committee (Chris LaCivita) to be PFA's President. Id. While President, LaCivita was paid as a contractor by a consultant group called DCI, which shared a partner (Tom Synhorst) with Feather's group, FLS-DCI. Synhorst too has strong Bush-Cheney campaign ties, having advised the campaign in 2000 and held important roles at the Republican conventions in 1996 and 2000.

When the FEC decided not to regulate 527's in May 2004, PFA reorganized as a pro-Bush 527 organization. Its hub was Synhorst, who played a role with PFA similar to the one Ickes played with the Media Fund and the DNC. Synhorst was a strategic advisor and leading fundraiser for PFA, both before and after its conversion from a 501(c)(4) to a 527 organization. He was also a partner at FLS-DCI, which received $19 million for telemarketing and message phone calling for the RNC and the Bush campaign. Like Ickes, Synhorst's efforts "were certainly visible to his firm's political clients and his political relationships were presumably known to many donors." Ex. 2, page 9 attached to Mann Declaration.

The RNC initially took the position that the Federal Election Commission should regulate 527 groups. But when, in May, 2004, the FEC refused to do so, Republican Party leaders sent an unmistakable message to Republican donors to give to 527 groups like PFA. Both the chairman of the Bush-Cheney '04 campaign (Marc Racicot) and the RNC Chairman (Ed Gillespie) declared that FEC inaction on the issue “had given a green light to all non-federal 527’s to forge full steam ahead in their efforts to affect this year’s Federal elections, and in particular, the Presidential race[.]” Id., at 8. And that is precisely what PFA did in the 2004 election cycle.

The close connections between the party committees and these 527 groups raise concerns that 527 groups have provided and, unless regulated, will continue to provide a means for circumventing the soft money ban on the national parties. Donors who previously gave large soft money donations to the national parties have now shifted their giving to 527 groups that operate in close alignment with the parties.

For example, a recent study showed that total contributions to 527’s rose from $151 million in 2002 to over $400 million—an increase of roughly 168%.⁶ Moreover, donations from wealthy individuals to 527’s also have sharply risen. Between 2002 and 2004, for example, the number of contributors who gave more than $100,000 to 527’s grew from 66 to 265—an increase of over 300 percent. The number of ‘superrich donors’ grew even more, from no donors of more than $2 million in 2002, to 24 such donors in 2004.

Many of these large individual donors to 527 groups had previously given large amounts of soft money to the political parties before BCRA banned such practices. As noted in the Mann Declaration, of the 113 individuals who contributed at least $250,000 to 527 groups in the 2004 cycle, 73 (over 64 percent) had been active soft money donors to the political parties, giving a total of over $49 million dollars of soft money in the previous two election cycles. Mann Declaration at 2. What appears to have happened is that donors who had previously given soft money to the national political parties have now shifted a significant amount of their giving to 527 groups in the wake of BCRA's ban on party soft money fundraising. These supposedly independent groups are thus being used as vehicles for circumvention of the limits imposed by BCRA.

And because the candidates who are benefited by the spending of the 527 groups are fully aware of who these large donors are, unlimited contributions to 527 groups can be used as a means of buying access and influence to candidates and officeholders, just as similar soft money contributions to parties previously did.

Finally, there is no reason to believe that this potential for the circumvention of meaningful contribution limits on candidates and parties by the use of supposedly independent committees is a problem that is limited to federal elections. We submit that the experience at the federal level has potential to take place at the state level as well. If supposedly independent political committees are allowed to receive unlimited contributions, donors will use those contributions to buy access to and influence with those candidates aided by the committee. Such unlimited contributions, even if given to supposedly independent committees, create the potential for the same kind of corruption that was at the heart of the Supreme Court's analysis in McConnell upholding restrictions on donations to party committees. This danger of real or potential corruption arising from unlimited donations to political committees is sufficient to justify the contribution limits imposed on such gifts.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above, this Court should reject plaintiff's constitutional challenge to North Carolina's contribution limits to independent expenditure political committees.

Respectfully submitted this 28th day of February, 2005.

ADVISORY OPINION 2010-03

Marc E. Elias, Esq.
Kate S. Keane, Esq.
Perkins Coie LLP
607 Fourteenth Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20005-2003

Dear Mr. Elias and Ms. Keane:

We are responding to your advisory opinion request on behalf of the National Democratic Redistricting Trust ("the Trust"), concerning the application of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended ("the Act"), and Commission regulations to the solicitation of funds by Members of Congress on behalf of the Trust. The Commission concludes that the Trust's proposed activities are not in connection with an election and therefore Members of Congress may solicit funds on behalf of the Trust that do not comply with the Act's amount limitations and source prohibitions.

Background

The facts presented in this advisory opinion are based on your letter dated February 19, 2010, your email dated March 2, 2010, your comment submitted on April 28, 2010 and your representations at the Commission's Open Meeting on April 29, 2010.

The Trust was established by individuals, but not Members of Congress, to raise funds to pay for the pre-litigation and litigation costs that arise following the next legislative redistricting process.¹ The Trust is run by a trustee and an executive director, both of whom are private citizens and neither of whom are Members of Congress. The Trust is not directly or indirectly established, financed, maintained, or controlled by any Member of Congress, any authorized candidate committee, or any national, State, district, or local party committee.

¹ The Trust will also spend some of its funds on administrative costs (e.g., to pay the executive director's salary).

AO 2010-03

Though the Trust may work in concert with like-minded individuals, organizations, and political committees that will attempt to influence elections directly, the Trust itself will not fund direct attempts to influence elections. Indeed, the Trust will not use its funds to pay for communications that expressly advocate the election or defeat of any clearly identified candidate for office, nor will any of its solicitations of funds expressly advocate the election or defeat of any clearly identified candidate for office.

The Trust would like Members of Congress to solicit funds on its behalf. Such solicitations would seek funds that do not comply with the Act's amount limitations or source prohibitions, and also would not advocate the election or defeat of any candidate for office.

Question Presented

May Members of Congress solicit on behalf of the Trust funds that do not comply with the Act's amount limitations and source prohibitions?

Legal Analysis and Conclusions

Yes, Members of Congress may solicit funds on behalf of the Trust that do not comply with the Act's amount limitations and source prohibitions because the Trust's proposed activities are not in connection with a Federal or non-Federal election.

On November 6, 2002, the Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act of 2002, Pub. L. 107-155, 116 Stat. 81 (2002) ("BCRA") took effect. As amended by BCRA, the Act regulates certain actions of Federal candidates and officeholders ("covered persons") when they raise or spend funds "in connection with" either Federal or non-Federal elections. 2 U.S.C. 441i(e)(1). Both BCRA and the Commission's regulations implementing BCRA prohibit covered persons from soliciting, receiving, directing, transferring, or spending any "funds in connection with an election for Federal office" unless such funds are "subject to the limitations, prohibitions, and reporting requirements of this Act." 2 U.S.C. 441i(e)(1)(A); 11 CFR 300.61. BCRA and the Commission's regulations also prohibit covered persons from soliciting, receiving, directing, transferring or spending any "funds in connection with an election other than an election for Federal office" unless the funds are consistent with the Act's amount limitations and source prohibitions. 2 U.S.C. 441i(e)(1)(A); 11 CFR 300.62.

In analyzing the application of 2 U.S.C. 441i(e), the threshold question is whether the Federal candidate or officeholder is soliciting funds in connection with a Federal or non-Federal election under subsection (e)(1). If so, then the analysis proceeds to whether the exceptions to subsection (e)(1) in subsections (e)(2) or (e)(4) apply. If the funds are not raised or spent in connection with an election, then the funds do not fall within the scope of section 441i(e).

The Commission has issued several advisory opinions concerning whether certain activities are in connection with an election since the passage of BCRA that provide guidance in this matter.² For example:

- In Advisory Opinion 2003-12 (Flake), the Commission concluded that the activities of a ballot measure committee that is not ‘established, financed, maintained or controlled’ by a Federal candidate . . . are not ‘in connection with an[] election . . . prior to the committee qualifying an initiative or ballot measure for the ballot, but are ‘in connection with an[] election . . .’ after the committee qualifies an initiative or ballot measure for the ballot.”
- In Advisory Opinion 2003-15 (Majette), the Commission concluded that Representative Majette’s costs of defending against a lawsuit seeking a special primary and special general election—which, if successful, would have essentially overturned the primary and general elections that Representative Majette had won—were not “in connection with” any election.³
- In Advisory Opinion 2005-10 (Berman-Doolittle), the Commission concluded that section 441i(e) does not prohibit Federal candidates and officeholders from raising funds for committees that have been formed solely to support or oppose ballot measures (including a ballot measure specifically related to redistricting). Under the facts presented by the requester, the committees were not established, financed, maintained or controlled by a Federal candidate, officeholder, or anyone acting on their behalf, or by any party committee and there were no Federal candidates appearing on the same ballot.

The Commission’s regulation regarding fundraising for convention host committees also provides useful context for applying the “in connection with” an election standard. 11 CFR 9008.55(d). In that rulemaking, the Commission considered whether a statutory exemption to BCRA’s fundraising limitations applied to candidate solicitations for convention host committees and municipal funds. See 2 U.S.C. 441i(e)(4)(A); Public Financing of Presidential Candidates and Nominating Conventions, 68 Fed. Reg. 47386, 47404-05 (Aug. 8, 2003). As part of its analysis, the Commission found that the principal purpose of the host committees and municipal funds was to promote and ² Before 2 U.S.C. 441i(e) became law, the Commission approved proposals by Federal candidates or officeholders to establish and to solicit funds for entities that were engaged exclusively in activities related to redistricting, including the defrayal of reapportionment-related legal expenses. The issue raised by these requests was whether the funds solicited or spent for such activities were “for the purpose of influencing any election to Federal office” and therefore contributions or expenditures under 2 U.S.C. 431(8) and (9). The Commission concluded that activity related to redistricting, although a political process, does not fall within those definitions. See Advisory Opinions 1990-23 (Frost), 1982-37 (Edwards) and 1981-35 (Thomas). Accordingly, the Commission determined that the redistricting-related entities described in the requests were permitted to receive and spend funds that were not subject to the limitations and prohibitions of the Act.

generate commerce in the host cities. The convention itself clearly has some impact on an election - it is, after all, where the party chooses its nominee. However, the Commission determined that the specific purpose of host committees and municipal funds (namely, to promote commerce in the host cities) was not principally for the purpose of conducting federal election activity “in connection” with a Federal election. Id.

Here, the Trust’s proposed activities are most closely in line with those approved by the Commission in Advisory Opinion 2003-15 (Majette) and Advisory Opinion 2005-10 (Berman-Doolittle).⁴ The regulation regarding candidate solicitations for convention host committees also provides support for the Request. The Trust seeks to engage in litigation over the electoral process that will govern how future elections are conducted, but its activities will not be a means to participate in those elections. BCRA does not explicitly address whether redistricting activities are “in connection with” elections. Although the outcome of redistricting litigation often has political consequences,⁵ the Commission concludes that spending on such activity is sufficiently removed that it is not “in connection with” the elections themselves.

The Commission concludes, in light of the Commission’s recent decisions on this question, that donations to the Trust for the sole purpose of paying the pre-litigation and litigation costs associated with reapportionment and redistricting legal matters are neither “in connection with an election for Federal office” nor “in connection with any election other than an election for Federal office” for purposes of 2 U.S.C. 441i(e)(1)(A) and (B). As such, the funds are not subject to the limitations and prohibitions of the Act. Accordingly, a Member of Congress may solicit unlimited funds on behalf of the Trust to defray the legal expenses associated with the Trust’s redistricting efforts.

The Commission expresses no opinion regarding the possible applicability of any Federal or State tax laws or other laws, or the rules of the Senate or House of Representatives, to the matters presented in your request, as those issues are outside its jurisdiction.

This response constitutes an advisory opinion concerning the application of the Act and Commission regulations to the specific transaction or activity set forth in your request. See 2 U.S.C. 437f. The Commission emphasizes that, if there is a change in any of the facts or assumptions presented and such facts or assumptions are material to a conclusion presented in this advisory opinion, then the requester may not rely on that conclusion as support for its proposed activity. Any person involved in any specific transaction or activity which is indistinguishable in all its material aspects from the ⁴ In response to Advisory Opinion Request 2003-38 (Engel), the Commission failed to reach a conclusion with respect to the proposed redistricting related activity. In that request, Congressman Engel sought to establish a redistricting committee for the purpose of paying the costs of redistricting litigation. Here, in contrast, the Trust will not be directly or indirectly established, financed, maintained, or controlled by any Member of Congress, any authorized candidate committee, or any national party committee.

Here are the redistricting cases where my team is working with the folks at @DemRedistrict, NRAF, and @RedistrictFdn. Together we are fighting for democracy.

Alabama

Louisiana

Minnesota

North Carolina

Ohio

Pennsylvania

Texas

*GA as soon as Gov signs

*VA court map process.
