● Trauma-Informed Tools for Supporting Immigrant Families presented by Dr. Susana Lopez

Dr. Susana A. López is a bicultural and bilingual professor at Cal Poly and a licensed clinical psychologist who specializes in trauma-informed, culturally humble psychological research and interventions for individuals in vulnerable and marginalized communities. As an immigrant herself, Dr. López has a passion for working with clients on issues related to life transitions including immigration/acclulturation processes, trauma, family disruptions, and identity.

● Dialogue - what works for outreach & support

● Provider Resource Fair & Networking

The Forum welcomes those working with immigrant families in family support, healthcare, and education, including family advocates, case managers, social workers, front desk staff, early care providers, and others providing direct support to children and families.

There's no cost to participate and space is limited.
