

MARY ANNE & RICHARD CAVICCHI CHRISTIAN EDUCATION SEMINAR

*LEARNINGS FROM THE PANDEMIC:
HEALTH CARE & RACIAL INEQUITIES*

SUNDAY, MARCH 7, 2:00PM –3:15PM VIA WEBINAR

This year's speakers are:

- Nazleen Bharmal, MD, PhD, MPP – Medical Director Community Health & Partnership, Cleveland Clinic Community Care
- Will Jones, Director of Multicultural Vitality for the East Ohio Conference of the United Methodist Church

Register at: <https://www.rumc.org/cavicchi-seminar-sign-up>. Questions? Please contact Elizabeth Cavicchi at cavicchichristianed@gmail.com.

More about our speakers:

Will Fenton-Jones, from Akron, OH, is the director of Multicultural Vitality for the East Ohio Conference of The United Methodist Church where he has served since January of 2017. Will previously has served in both youth ministry and worship leader roles in United Methodist churches and other contexts since 2005. He enlisted in the U.S. Army as a Chaplain Assistant in 2007 and was stationed at Ft. Bragg, NC where he deployed twice to Afghanistan where he worked to build relationships with Afghani religious leaders.. In 2013, after completing a bachelor's degree in Religious Studies, Will entered into a commissioning program and attended Cleveland State University to earn a Master's of Urban Planning, Design, and Development. After commissioning into the U.S. Army Reserves as an Engineer Officer, Will pursued community development as a focus to encourage churches and leaders to engage and transform their communities. Will is married to Joy Fenton-Jones and they have a 1-year-old son named Xander.

Nazleen H. Bharmal is a Medical Director of Community Partnerships, Cleveland Clinic Community Care. She works with an interdisciplinary team to implement a community health strategy in Cleveland, OH. Dr. Bharmal previously was the Director of Science and Policy at the Office of the Surgeon General (OSG) in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. She was responsible for leading the evidence base for the Surgeon General's priority areas; supervising Public Health Reports, the peer-reviewed journal of the Office of the US Surgeon General and US Public Health Service; and overseeing scientific documents and landmark Surgeon General reports. She has published in scientific journals and received awards for public health research and leadership. She practices primary care, internal medicine. She received her MD from Harvard Medical School, PhD in health policy and management from UCLA Fielding School of Public Health, and MPP from John F. Kennedy School of Government.