

Courageous Connections:

A Series of Events Coming to Bloomington to Inspire Meaningful Conversations

Maureen Walker

Power Redefined:

Disruptive Empathy as a Tool for Liberation by Maureen Walker

brought to you by Bloomington Center for Connection (BCC)

Friday, August 10, 2018

7:00 PM – 9:00 PM EDT
City of Bloomington- City Hall
401 North Morton Street

Reserve your spot here:

<https://tinyurl.com/registerRCT>

This event is followed by a day-long Summit that highlights Relational Cultural Theory as a tool for social change. All community members welcome. Learn more about Maureen's talk here: tinyurl.com/CourageousConnection

Daryl Davis

Purposeful Encounters:

Initiating Civil Dialogue with Daryl Davis and the Nonviolent Civil Engagement Initiative (NCEI)

Monday, August 13, 2018

3:30-5:30 PM EDT
Monroe County Public Library
Room 1B/1C
303 E. Kirkwood Avenue

Questions? Contact:

egrays@monroe.lib.in.us

This event is a Public Forum exploring Daryl Davis' work in an interactive manner. It is tailored toward high school aged students, and encourages all ages in the community to attend. Check out his TEDx Talk, "What do you do when someone just doesn't like you?" No registration required.