

The 2020 Auction is online May 3!

Yes! It's time for the 2020 Annual UUB Auction....and nothing is going to stop it. We have had to make some changes to accommodate the isolation protocols, but there are still many ways we can offer our talents and services and raise money for our beloved community. There are still many things to be worked out, but here it is so far.

The totally online auction will begin on May 3, 2020 and possibly continue over a few days. Please consider donating talents and/or services that can be provided at a distance. Previous donations that could be delivered online or at a distance are welcome and include: voice lessons, pie crust making lessons, poet and author readings, and yard work. New ideas are encouraged! Click on this link to start filling out your donation forms which are due Sunday, April 20th. Click here for more details.

A few new online possibilities are concerts from our talented UU members, a walking tour of your flower garden, sharing backyard birding, a book club, favorite book sharing, gardening help sessions, tutoring for skills such as: computer skills, foreign languages, cooking, how-to building projects, knitting, and other crafts. Since our dinners are the biggest part of the auction, we would like to still offer those, but the dates will list as "to be determined." See the link below to start filling out your donation forms which are due Sunday, April 20th. The catalog will go online a few days after that. As we all learn new ways to stay connected, this approach promises to stimulate your creativity and excitement for auction activities. Thank you for your generosity! --- The Auction Committee
