

What Am I?

- I grow on a tree that can be 100 feet tall. The oldest living tree I grow on is thought to be 300 years old!
- I am one of the most-eaten fruits around the world and I'm the national fruit of Pakistan.
- The paisley pattern, often found on ornamental rugs and handkerchiefs (shown below) is thought to resemble my shape and represent me in some cultures.

- I am in the same family as the pistachio and cashew nut. I can be red, orange, yellow, and even green.
