Dear Friends,

I am excited to announce a new full-time position at the Baptist World Alliance (BWA): Director of Integral Mission (DIM). The Director will work in close collaboration with the General Secretary to develop and guide programs in the area of evangelism and mission while offering administrative oversight and additional leadership within the areas of religious freedom, human rights, and justice, as well as theological reflection and transformational leadership. This will be a global search and the BWA actively welcomes applicants from every region of the world.

As part of a small and growing BWA Team, the Director of Integral Mission will relate to a wide portfolio. The full job specification and detailed responsibilities are attached with the following as key priorities:

- Demonstrate a personal, passionate calling and commitment to evangelism and mission
- Demonstrate a strong administrative skillset that can lead the development and implementation of programs that will network BWA member bodies, churches, and individuals, especially in the area of evangelism and mission
- Implement administrative oversight and leadership with commissions and other assigned program areas
- Help the BWA grow entrepreneurially and collaboratively, recognizing that as the BWA grows, other assigned program areas will shift in order to allow the DIM to focus more on evangelism and mission
- Have a clear commitment to personal spiritual growth, local Baptist church participation, and love for mobilizing others to engage in ministry

Applications should include a résumé/CV, three professional references, and a one-page document outlining the candidate’s vision for enhancing this area of BWA’s ministry. Additional relevant application pieces are welcomed. To apply, please send all relevant information to employment@bwanet.org. The deadline for submission is October 11, 2019. A diversity of applicants from all regions of the world, male and female, and younger leaders is encouraged and welcomed. Please feel free to distribute.

Prayerfully,

Rev. Elijah M. Brown, Ph.D.
General Secretary, Baptist World Alliance
