DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (DRP)

NAIT's Dispute Resolution Program (DRP) will help:

Protect and save precious community donations and resources:

The DRP includes lawyers and Muslim scholars who serve as mediators and arbitrators, and provide a set of procedural guidelines, which address the unique facets of Muslim non-profit institutions.

Avoid the headache and mental stress of board conflicts:

The DRP is available to both NAIT entrusted and non-entrusted centers and organizations to help the Muslim non-profits operate in a stress free and conflict free environment.

Ensure a fair and just resolution:

The DRP follows a specific procedural process which ensures fairness, and transparency to all petitioners involved. Any masjid, Islamic center, school, charity, or other religious organization can rest assured that its board or community conflict will be not be predetermined or prejudged but for the facts and any applicable legal standard.
