NAIT'S WAQF PROGRAM

Waqf is a sadqah-e-jariyah - a permanent dedication of an asset to a beneficiary for Allah's pleasure. It is a kind of Islamic endowment which passes the asset's ownership to Allah.

Why Waqf? To preserve Islamic institutions to keep serving the Muslim community instead of being lost to islamophobia, socioeconomic or demographic changes, disrepair, property taxes or legal issues.

Why NAIT's Waqf? Established in 1973, being the oldest and only national Islamic waqf, with around 400 entrusted properties in 42 states across USA, NAIT's scope, access experience and expertise is unmatched in America. Entrusting an institution with NAIT means the local community is responsible for daily operations while NAIT protects it legally and holds title of it.

EXCLUSIVE benefits to NAIT's entrusted centers:

- Protection from legal liabilities resulting from organizational activities or lawsuits
- Eligibility for interest-free loans for infrastructure improvements and securing signed construction contracts.
- Affiliation with NAIT helps obtain and renew property tax exemption, and in dealings with the IRS.
- In the last three decades, not one Islamic center or school has been lost through a lien or a court-imposed liquidation. Indeed, NAIT has been able to recover properties that were sold by county officials. For example, NAIT recovered a Muslim cemetery that was sold due to omissions of the local managers; the recovery cost to NAIT was high but was only a fraction of the property's value, and it averted a lot of heartache for the families of the deceased.
