Melanoma Medical Oncology Job Description

City of Hope Seeks a Medical Oncologist to Join the Melanoma & Skin Cancer Care Team

The Department of Medical Oncology & Therapeutics Research at City of Hope National Medical Center is seeking an Associate Clinical Professor - Clinical Professor level Medical Oncologist, board-certified/eligible in Internal Medicine and Medical Oncology with additional experience in all aspects of Melanoma and Skin Cancer, including treatment, prevention, research, and clinical trials.

- Full-time hours working within an established team of physicians and health care professionals in an integrated, multidisciplinary department
- Protected research/academic time (40-60%)
- Primary clinical responsibility in the care of patients with Malignant Melanoma, Merkel cell carcinoma, and Basal and Squamous cell skin cancers
- Teaching responsibilities, training both fellows specializing in the broader area of medical oncology as well as fellows training for a career specifically in Melanoma and Skin Cancer
- Excellent salary, potential for incentive compensation, and benefits including a generous retirement package

The ideal candidate will be a respected oncologist with a distinguished national reputation in cancer care and optimal treatment outcomes, exhibit a commitment to clinical excellence and innovation, and provide vision and leadership of oncology clinical services in an integrated academic medical center environment. Must participate in clinical or basic science research relevant to Skin Cancer and Melanoma and demonstrate a commitment to research as shown by submission and presentation of abstracts in residency and published manuscripts. Academic rank will be commensurate with experience.*

A commitment to provide state-of-the-art patient focused clinical care and guidance in the evolution of cancer treatments specific to melanoma and other skin cancers should be supported by prior experience.

This position is a rare opportunity to work in a 300+ member integrated, multidisciplinary Medical Group Practice serving an NCI designated comprehensive cancer center in highly desirable Southern California, within an established and highly respected Department of Medical Oncology. Lifestyle opportunities for individuals as well as families are unparalleled. City of Hope is an expanding institution in both numbers of patients per year as well as infrastructure investment in clinical, academic and research facilities.

Interested candidates, please send your CV to: Jacqui Paris, Physician Recruiter, at MDRecruitment@coh.org