

Executive Order 14304 - Leading the World in Supersonic Flight

Issued June 6, 2025

This order launches a national initiative to restore U.S. leadership in supersonic aviation by repealing outdated FAA regulations, setting new noise-based standards, and accelerating research and development. It directs federal agencies to coordinate efforts, support international regulatory alignment, and promote safe, sustainable, and commercially viable supersonic flight over land.

This order MIGHT impact Navajo

This order should not impact the Nation, but supersonic flight testing in the 1960s and 1970s was conducted over Navajo lands, causing disruptions to livestock, and, in at least one instance, damage to an archeological site in Canyon de Chelly. We may want to monitor the changes if it makes tests more likely to return to Navajo lands.

Executive Order 14305 - Restoring American Airspace Sovereignty

Issued June 6, 2025

This order establishes a federal task force and directs sweeping actions to secure U.S. airspace from threats posed by unmanned aircraft systems (UAS), including those used by cartels, terrorists, and foreign adversaries. It mandates new drone flight restrictions, enhanced enforcement and detection capabilities, and expanded support for state, local, tribal, and territorial agencies to protect critical infrastructure, mass gatherings, and national security interests.

This order MIGHT impact Navajo

This is primarily a national security issue, but the inclusion of tribes in instructions for grant programs should make it easier to apply for grants to protect Navajo airspace.

Executive Order 14308 - Empowering Commonsense Wildfire Prevention and Response

Issued June 12, 2025

This order aims to overhaul the federal government's approach to wildfire prevention and response following the devastating Los Angeles wildfires, emphasizing streamlined governance, expanded use of technology, and deregulation to empower local and state preparedness. The order directs agencies to consolidate fire programs, encourage prescribed burns and fuel reduction, promote high-tech detection and response tools, and reduce bureaucratic barriers, including those impacting electrical utilities and firefighting resources.

This order MIGHT impact Navajo

There may be opportunities to secure additional resources for Navajo firefighters. The streamlined federal response should also assist if the Nation ever faces a major wildfire outside of our ability to contain.

Executive Order 14309 - Implementing the General Terms of the United States of America- United Kingdom Economic Prosperity Deal

Issued June 13, 2025

This order strengthens national security and economic relationships between the United States and United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

This order MIGHT impact Navajo

The UK agrees to reduce or eliminate several non-tariff barriers against American products, which would include products shipped from the Navajo or by members to the UK.

Executive Order 14311 - Further Extending the TikTok Enforcement Delay

Issued June 19, 2025

This order further delays President Trump's January 20, 2025, Executive Order calling for regulations to promulgated on TikTok. This order delays any action on TikTok until September 17, 2025.

This order MIGHT impact Navajo

While this should not impact the Navajo government, the extension means that Navajos who enjoy TikTok will be able to continue to access it unimpeded.
