

Why you can't afford to miss this

Cultural Competency/Health Literacy Training Program

A Nationally-Recognized Curriculum

The CCHL interactive workshop explores key concepts of the social determinants of health, health literacy, and cultural competency, with a focus on Long Island communities and populations.

lihealthcollab.org/CCHL
LIHC@nshc.org
(631) 257-6957

Communicate with Communities

This interactive training allows those serving the community to recognize the different cultures and backgrounds of their clients, become conscious of their own implicit biases, and understand how highlighting diversity in healthcare delivery can assist in client retention.

Data Driven

Four in-depth levels of evaluation, collected and analyzed by the Long Island Health Collaborative, produce outcome measures and actionable reports for the development of organizations' CCHL strategies.

Designed to Satisfy Mandates

The programmatic nature of the CCHL training can support organizations looking to meet requirements from New York State DOH, New York State Office of Mental Health Bureau of Cultural Competence, the Joint Commission, DSRIP, NCQH PCMH models, pay for performance measures, and other accrediting bodies.

This training includes,

A regionally-developed, county-specific curriculum

A self-sustaining training model, for continued in-house learning opportunities

The choice of virtual or in-person trainings, to suit your organization

Access to a host of online resources for trainers and trainees

Connection to the heart of CCHL advancement in the region, and all its partners

What would it cost you to miss out?

This program is offered for free

Thanks to the New York State Department of Health, DSRIP + PHIP funding, and the strategic development of this curriculum, this program is paid for in full by the Long Island Health Collaborative, the Nassau Queens Performing Provider System, and the Suffolk Care Collaborative.

But what would it cost your organization to implement this program on its own?

lihealthcollab.org/CCHL
LIHC@nshc.org
(631) 257-6957

Program Development	$8,000
Research and create interactive, locally relevant materials on cultural competency, health literacy, health disparities and unconscious bias.
Curriculum	$3,500
Write training manual, resource toolkit, prework, instructors guides, etc.
Evaluation Plan	$1,500
Develop a four-level evaluation plan, measuring reactions, learnings, behaviors, and results
Training Session Prep	$1,000
Assemble a team to logistically and physically practice and carry out a training session
Inaugural Training Session	$2,000
Host the first training session, training no more than 30 participants with the CCHL curriculum
Training Materials	$600
Includes printed curricula, tools for interactive portions, food, etc.
Each Training Refresher	$1,000
Host annual session to convene Master Trainers, review and discuss data, analyze feedback, adapt and update program as necessary
Webpage Resource	$2,000
Includes build out of web-based training pages, gathering resource material, hosting updated training material, and regular page maintenance
Trainer's Time	$400
The value of time spent by an individual trainer to prep for and host a full-day training, based on a $25/hr salary

An estimated value of $20,000

Luckily, these costs are covered.

Sustaining region-wide progress in the field of cultural competence and health literacy is crucial to the delivery of healthcare in Queens, Nassau, and Suffolk Counties. And working collectively allows organizations to better serve their communities.

Start CCHL training in your org NOW

Contact the Long Island Health Collaborative to get started today.

lihealthcollab.org/CCHL
LIHC@nshc.org
(631) 257-6957