City Attorney Chuck Adams presented a section on immigration issues at the recent Municipal Attorneys Institute in Green Lake, WI. Adams, along with co-presenters Hugo Rojas of Davis & Kuelthau, S.C. and Jim Korom von Briesen & Roper, S.C., spoke on “Immigration Issues: Sanctuary Cities, Local Authority and Possible Scenarios Coming to a Location Near You.” Adams’s portion of the presentation focused on recent immigration issues faced in Sheboygan, as well as likely issues that will be faced by cities in Wisconsin in the near future.

The Municipal Attorneys Institute is the annual conference for attorneys put on by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities. Several hundred municipal attorneys from around the state attended the conference and heard presentations on a wide range of topics, including the regulation of cell towers in municipal rights of way, the impact of new state financial regulations, alcohol licensing, and an update on recent Supreme Court cases.
