

Finding Your Calm in the Storm: Recognizing, Preventing, and Healing Secondary Trauma in Professionals Working with Young Children and Families

Friday, June 7, 2019

8:30-4:30

3800 E. Hampden Ave, Englewood, CO 80113

$55/person

Emily McNeil, LPC, IMH-E®

The Mariposa Center for Infant, Child, and Family Enrichment

Sarah McNamee, LCSW, IMH-E®

McNamee & Associates, LLC

Join us for a day of education and self-care!

Working with young children and families is a unique experience – rewarding, sustaining, and stressful. Professionals who do this work are exceptional in their capacities to empathize, advocate, and often, relate from personal experiences. Sometimes professionals find themselves struggling with profound emotional and physical responses to the families' stressors and crises, while maintaining professional expectations to help, heal, and contain. Education and support are vital to continued work in this challenging field!

This experiential training will cover:

Understanding trauma & resilience *Assessing professional satisfaction *Burnout *Secondary trauma
*Prevention/self-care Reflective practice

Professionals from many disciplines encouraged to attend:

*Early Intervention Providers In-home/Center-based childcare providers Nursing/Medical professionals
Lactation consultants Mental health professionals ECE/ECSE teachers/paraprofessionals OT/PT/SLPs
Social workers/GALs/CASAs Child and family administration Professionals seeking Endorsement in IMH*

REGISTER NOW!

Questions: emily@mariposacenterdenver.com OR sarah@mcnameeassociates.com

Developmental Pathways

We are very thankful to Developmental Pathways for their generous sponsorship of this event which allows for us to keep registration costs low for all attendees!