Career Site Visit

Mentors, Inc. @ Kid Power

Purpose

Career Site Visits with Mentors, Inc. @ Kid Power are an opportunity for employers in the DC area to build connection with the DC community and future employees in a unique way. By inviting middle and high school students attending DC public and charter schools into your place of work, you inspire young people to explore careers they may not otherwise know about and you build connections between employees and the community.

Commitment

Career Site Visits are approximately two hours and are scheduled during out of school hours and school breaks. Each visit is expected to include the following:

- Overview of the company or organization, including mission and purpose
- Office tour
- Opportunity to meet a minimum of 3 individuals in 3 unique roles. These individuals should share and overview of their role, along with their unique career path
- A problem-solving activity to allow participants to see what a "day in the life" of an employee looks like.

Interactive Career Site Visits are most successful. The more opportunity youth have to ask questions, explore the workplace and interact with employees, the more they get from the experiences. While some youth may be interested specifically in career paths offered at your place of work, presenters should be prepared to connect varied youth interests with the work of the company or orgnization.
