

YMCA Healthy Kids Day May 8 Highlights

Resources for Families and Youth Service

Come and enjoy a family-friendly morning learning about the amazing programs offered to children and teens in the Georgetown community. This free event organized by the YMCA of Georgetown will be held from 9 a.m. to noon on May 8 in the Ross Dress for Less parking lot at Wolf Ranch Town Center. Families can enjoy crafts, fun music, bouncy houses, a fire truck, the Georgetown Police Department, and informational booths!

Georgetown Afterschool Alliance partners hosted youth service events in April to plan wellness education activities for this event and will have informational booths about their youth programs. Confirmed participants include The Georgetown Project NEST Empowerment Center, City of Georgetown Parks and Recreation Youth Advisory Board, and Boys and Girls Club of Georgetown. High school volunteers are welcome to serve as part of Global Youth Service Day.

If you are a high school student interested in volunteering for the event, please email Melisa Aranda at melisa@georgetownproject.org

Funding from Youth Service America and the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation is helping support the youth service events.
