

BOYS SCENES 18+

Reader: Wow, Lawrence! What happened to you? I haven't seen you since High School Graduation!

Lawrence: What happened is I finally started living my life, I mean really living!

Reader: Is that so? What college did you end up attending?

Lawrence: College? College is for dummies and contortionists. I ain't no dummy and I sure don't contort! Like Frosty the Snowman once said, "Two roads divulged in a wood, and I took the one less likely to melt me".

Reader: I believe the quote is actually from Robert Frost and says....

Lawrence: Look, you say "Tomato", I say "pajamas". Point is, I'm living my life day by day, just living in the moment, you know? And I've got to tell you, I feel that nothing can get in my way.

Reader: Well, I'm glad to see you so satisfied. That's great, really! Oh, by the way, I'll take fries with my burger.

TOM

Tom: Hey, you! Come here a second.

Reader: You're Trina's brother, right?

Tom: Yeah, I am. I AM Trina's older, much bigger than you brother.

Reader: Okay.....is there a problem?

Tom: Yeah, there is a problem. I know you. I know all about you. Heck, I used to be just like you. I need you to stay away from Trina. Understand? You aren't good enough for her.

Reader: What's your problem?

Tom: Problem? My family has been through a lot, but Trina....she wants to make something of her life. She's going to college. There are tons of other girls out there. Trina is off limits.

Reader: If Trina wants to be with me, what are you going to do about it?

Tom: What am I going to do about it? I'm coming after you. There isn't anything I wouldn't do to protect her. I hope you understand me. Stay away from her.

BRUCE

Reader: Where is my car?

Bruce: Joey, I think you've been towed.

Reader: Why do you think that?

Bruce: Because you parked in a tow away zone under a sign that says, "Hey there, we are really going to tow your car if you decide to tempt fate and park here."

Reader: And this is where you say....

Bruce: I told you so.

Reader: I wanted to see that opening band, we were running late.

Bruce: I hear you. Let's just call your girlfriend.

Reader: Cell was in the car.

Bruce: ...and mine is dead so...now we...try to flag someone down?

Reader: In this neighborhood?

Bruce: Come on, we've already tempted fate once tonight. There is no way it can get worse...

NICK

Nick: I can't get Stacy to return my calls. You would think she has forgotten the last two years that we have been together.

Reader: Just give her some time. The more you call the less likely she is to call back.

Nick: But there are so many things that we haven't resolved. The least that she could do is let me have closure.

Reader: She is not interested in making you happy now. She's trying to get over you.

Nick: Maybe I don't want her to get over me. Maybe if I wait too long to talk to her it will be too late? I don't know if I could handle that.

Reader: Well, isn't she at work tonight? Maybe you should drop by the store and see her.

Nick: You think?

Reader: Why not? You're right, after two years together, closure is the least she can do for you.

Nick: You're right. Thanks.

MIKE

Mike: You're not gonna like this.

Reader: Well...spit it out.

Mike: I've decided to go ahead and testify.

Reader: Against me?

Mika: I know too much.

Reader: You know nothing.

Mike: Not just about the fire, but about the business. See everything is out in the open now and the only way we can stop this is to speak truthfully.

Reader: Man, I thought we were friends.

Mike: We were but this is bigger than us! I gotta do the right thing.
