

An evening for Catholic School Parents

Sponsored by St. Ann Parish

Please join other Catholic school parents (and grandparents) for an informative and inspirational discussion about how we can create and maintain a Catholic home.

As Catholic parents we are blessed to have faithful educational leaders in our schools to help form our children in the Catholic faith, but we can't leave it all to them. We are the first educators of our children. However, it can be hard in an increasingly secular world to maintain a truly Catholic environment in our homes.

Let us gather to hear the experienced wisdom of Fr. Peter Stravinskis as he offers some guidance to us on how to achieve and maintain a truly Catholic home. He has taught in or administered Catholic educational institutions at all levels. We will have refreshments following his presentation.

When: Thursday, September 23, from 6-7:15 p.m.

For Who: Parents and Grandparents of Children in Catholic Schools

Where: St. Ann's Allen Center Café (3635 Park Rd, Charlotte)

RSVP: not required but appreciated: www.surveymonkey.com/r/parenttalkstann

Reverend Peter M.J. Stravinskis is the editor of the The Catholic Response, and the author of over 500 articles for numerous Catholic publications, as well as several books, including The Catholic Church and the Bible and Understanding the Sacraments.
