This Week

It was a great week—snakes, snow, shells, snowmen, sunflower, sheep, and senses—all things that start with "S." We explored them all this week.

We got to enjoy the snow most everyday this week. Had a goodtime making snakes, snowmen, and sheep. We enjoyed making many different Valentines as well. Sand and seashells were fun to explore in the sensory table.

We did a lot of practicing our fine motor skills with scissors- we cut slime and paper.

We decorated bags, played pass the heart, exchanged valentines, made a special valentine, and ate a special Valentine's snack.

No School Monday in honor of president's day- enjoy the three-day weekend.

Next week we will be doing a review week of all the letters we have learned. We will also have music on Wednesday and Friday we will be going to the 7th grade play- Annie Jr.

The weather is predicted to warm up next week. We hope to be out and enjoying it. The playground will be very wet and muddy so you may want to send boots for outdoor plays. Also check your child's extra cloths and make sure they have something to change into just in case.

Next week's Menu
