The Enneagram ('ennea' is Greek for nine) is a map that indicates the core internal structure of our character. It reveals nine unique perspectives and ways humans filter information, nine distinct drivers for reactivity, as well as the automatic patterns and internal stories associated with the nine Enneagram types. No type is better or worse than another type, and we retain the same type throughout our lives.

Understanding the nine different filters and motivations allows us to be more patient with differing points of view, to cultivate more curiosity and lessen our judging. Workshop participants will learn

- each type's first placement of attention and the associated blind spots
- the world view and ego ideal of each of the nine types
- inherent gifts of the types
- the three centers of intelligence

Deepening self-awareness enhances our emotional intelligence and we develop a more intimate working relationship with ourselves as well as the ability to see others as they are to themselves rather through our projections. We become more aware of our impact on others, how we get in our own way, and learn balance in using our strengths. Judgments soften to curiosity and compulsions shift to compassion as we engage with those with whom we work and live.

This workshop does not require a working knowledge of your Enneagram type. This workshop will have limited enrollment so register early.

Sandra Smith, MDiv, teaches the Enneagram internationally as a tool for personal, professional, and spiritual growth. She is a certified IEA (International Enneagram Association) professional and certified Narrative Tradition teacher. In addition to corporate and nonprofit staff retreats, she offers individual sessions as an Enneagram leadership consultant and spiritual companion. Her understanding of the complexities and nuances of each Enneagram types makes her workshops a rich learning experience.
