

Dimitri Brown, emergency communications officer

An Army veteran, Dimitri recently moved to the area from Danville, where he worked for Foot Locker. His two sons are the most important to him, and he is a Lakers fan.

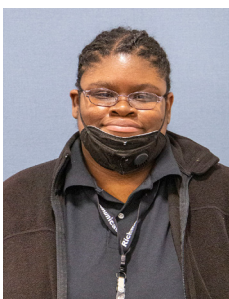

Michele “Shelley” Herzing, emergency communications officer

A retired associate principal with Chesterfield County Public Schools, Shelley’s family includes her wife, Carly, and three wonderful children, Kyla, age 7, and twins, Zeke and Mazie, age 5. She looks forward to learning new skills.

Denisia Person, emergency communications officer

Formerly a security guard, Denisia enjoys reading and playing video games.

Carla Savage, emergency communications officer

A military veteran and married grandmother, Carla has 30 years of customer service experience, including working for DSS and DPU. She enjoying helping people and loves to learn new concepts and ideas.

Hollister “Hollie” Watkins-Boyd, emergency communications officer

Hollie recently moved to the area from Nashville, where she was a nurse extern. Originally from Virginia, she has a bachelor’s degree in criminal justice. She loves to shop, travel and spend time with her family and kids.

