

If you know who this is, email your answer to Karen.gill@richmondgov.com.
Please put “I know my March coworker” in the subject line, and email it by March 17, to enter the random prize drawing of all correct entries.
Thank you!

Your most embarrassing moment? When I was pregnant, (many years ago), I had a craving for a Whopper. On my way to a dentist appointment, I stopped by Burger King and got a whopper with extra pickles on it. After my dental exam, the dentist asked if I was the pickle lady. Apparently, I had dropped some on my large belly, so I couldn't see them and had trailed pickles all the way down the hall in the dentist office. For two or three years whenever I would go in, they called me “pickle lady.”

Best advice you've been given or have given? Always treat others as you would want them to treat you, and think before you speak. The old adage, “Sticks and stones may break my bones, but words will never hurt me,” is definitely NOT a true statement.

Best experience at work? My best experiences have come from meeting different people and learning their personalities.

Favorite place to visit? The islands or anywhere with blue water

One thing you are most proud of? That I've been able to successfully change careers at such a seasoned age. I'm still learning and willing to learn more and more about my career.

Dream vacation? Hawaii and/or Paris

Fun fact about yourself? I have been a Girl Scout troop leader for over 20 years. I enjoy being a part of an organization that encourages girls to be strong leaders.

Favorite possession? I would say my jewelry collection. A couple of years ago, my younger sister began selling jewelry and ever since then, I don't go anywhere without my bling. No matter what you're wearing, accessorizing makes all the difference.

Craziest thing you ever saw or experienced? While working my part-time job, I saw a man running naked at Firefly Music Festival in Delaware. That was really crazy. I couldn't believe I was seeing what I was seeing.

Anything else that you would like to share to help your coworkers get to know you?

My soul mate and I have two girls (ages 22 and 26) of which we are extremely proud.

Between me and my husband, we have worked for the City of Richmond for a combined total of over 40 years.