

ECO Michael Sweeney

Emergency Communications Officer (ECO) Michael Sweeney has made incomparable contributions to the department. He has dealt with a number of high-profiled situations, volunteered at the Training Academy, and expressed an interest in progressing within the department. During the month of February, ECO Sweeney demonstrated an acute ability to adjust to work obstacles.

ECO Sweeney has been training and working on Police Channel 4 non-stop for the entire month of February. Police Channel 4 is one of the busiest radio channels in the city. ECO Sweeney does not discourage, but equips you with the tools to overcome challenges with a positive attitude. To achieve outcomes, he collaborates with policing staff and coworkers. For these reasons, we respect and value his services to the Department of Emergency Communications as an exemplary employee.

In addition, ECO Sweeney and Trainee M. Browne managed three subject pursuits and an emergent request for assistance in reference to a mental subject who was contemplating suicide by jumping off a bridge. The subject threatened to jump from a bridge within the municipal limits multiple times. ECO Sweeney utilized his critical thinking skills to keep track of the updates and concluded that the jumper was near the Lee Bridge. Within minutes, RPD units were on the scene to implement co-responding procedures. ECO Sweeney deserves credit for getting the job done.

ECO Michael Sweeney is an outstanding Emergency Communications Officer who is dedicated, consistent and professional. ECO Sweeney arrives for his schedule shift 45 minutes beforehand to organize and plan for the day. Due to his dedication, he is recommended for Communications Officer of the Month for February 2022.
