

ECO Brittany Robinson-Perez

The Department of Emergency Communications, Preparedness and Response (DECPR) has been the home employment of ECO Robinson-Perez since October 2020, and she has been a solid asset since day one. She has an exceptional passion for her position and care for her team.

ECO Robinson-Perez is known for her genuine smile, helping hand and strong work ethic. During her short time with DEC, she has accomplished so much. In July of 2021, ECO Robinson-Perez was reassigned to C platoon once she completed her police radio training. She took this as an opportunity to embrace a new shift (night shift) with a new team. Less than two (2) months with the platoon, she began fire radio training and was cleared by November 2021. Since her clearance, she has soared and strengthened as a Fire Communications Officer.

On the morning of Sunday, December 31, 2022 ECO Robinson-Perez combined her passion for her position and the care for her team. As a call dropped into her pending window, she immediately knew something was not normal about the call. During her investigation, she notified the responding unit of her hesitation. This aided the fire engine crew to be prepared for what they were walking into, a 6-month-old cardiac arrest.

During the entirety of the call, ECO Robinson-Perez stayed in contact with the on-duty ECAS, police radio and our partners at RAA. She ensured the safety of our crew was never in question. After her shift, she stopped by Fire Station 21 to check on them. RFD Lt. Nunnally contacted me later that morning to say, "Her professionalism on the radio and her support even after the shift meant a lot to us. During these hard times, the bond between communications and field responders are important and her act of caring is exceptional." I echoed his commendation with ease.

ECO Robinson-Perez and her passion for her job and her team never goes unnoticed. She has constantly been stepping up to help with staffing, exhausting all resources in a time of need, and showing compassion to her team. She is always bringing supervision a solution to an identified problem. She is open to conversation and willing to be a part of the betterment of the department.
