

Kimberly Brown, emergency communications officer

Kimberly’s previous position was with the U.S. Postal Service in Prince George, Virginia. She has three adult children and loves to work out to Trap Cardio.

Sanjay Chin, emergency communications officer

Coming from a position as a pharmacy technician for Walgreens, Sanjay is happily married with four children. She loves to play netball and decorate for events.

Shayla Felix, emergency communications officer

Previously working as a sales associate for Home Depot, Shayla is a mother of three “beautiful babies,” ages 7, 6 and 5. She loves art, being creative and DIY projects. She bakes cakes in her free time.

Sade Hawley, emergency communications officer

Sade comes to DEC after being a clinical technician with Georgetown Hospital. Her passion is helping others, and she loves to have fun and travel. She also is a self-described “health nut.”

Eric Motley, emergency communications officer

Coming from the Richmond Ambulance Authority as a logistics support technician, Eric is heavily involved in charity work in and around the city. He has had an interest in public service and helping others for a long time.

Darrius Purnell, emergency communications officer

Previously a team manager for Panera Bread, Darrius moved to the area from Maryland nine years ago. He is very family oriented and likes sports.

Shakila Saunders, emergency communications officer

Previously employed with the Richmond City Sheriff Office, Shakila has lived in Virginia all of her life. She has a 7-year-old son, and they like to explore new places.

Kesha Straker, emergency communications officer

Kesha was a customer service representative with Teleperformance USA and moved to Virginia three years ago. With three “wonderful” children and a Maltese, she enjoys quiet nights at home, playing games with her children and reading.

Stacie Wilcher, emergency communications officer

Previously a cashier in Chester, Stacie moved to Virginia from Pennsylvania four years ago. She has three adult children and enjoys spending time with her family. She enjoys going to church and fellowship and is currently looking for a church home.

Candace Williams, emergency communications officer

Candace is from Greensboro, North Carolina, and has previous 911 dispatch experience.