

From the Council President

Wow! We have been navigating life during a pandemic for seven months now! Early on, I don't think any of us expected this would last this long, and we are all dreaming of the day when we can be back together as a congregation.

I am very thankful to our pastors and staff, the members of our COVID advisory group, our Council, and our committees, who are working to discern when and how we can get back together in a way that will continue to keep our congregation safe. We believe we have found a way to do that!

We are planning and working toward welcoming our congregation back for worship on November 1, and the safety of all our members is our priority. We continue to develop safety protocols, practices, and procedures to provide a safe worshipping experience. We will also continue our online worship for all of our members who are most comfortable with worshipping with us in that way.

These past months physically apart from our church family have been hard on all of us. I am so thankful for your patience and support as we work together to get back to worshipping in person and keeping our congregation safe.

In Christ,
Jen Fisher
