future homeowners

The Davis Family

Habitat for Humanity Williamson-Maury is happy to welcome George Davis, Jr. and his children Geonna (13), Karionna (12), Aarionna (12), and Malachi (5) to the Homeownership Program.

Mr. Davis was born and raised in Columbia, TN, graduating from Columbia Central High School in 2001. He and his siblings were raised by their mother. George describes his childhood as wonderful, noting "we didn't have a care in the world."

As a single father, George works very hard to provide for his children, working full time at Spring Hill Seating Systems and part time at Stanfill Hardwood Lumber Company. In his free time, he enjoys fishing, going to the park with his kids, and fixing cars. The family attends New Hope Baptist Church in Mt. Pleasant, TN.

Raising four children comes with a lot of extracurricular activities to juggle. Geonna loves to dance and is interested in cosmetology. Aarionna enjoys playing with her dolls and likes being out in nature. Karionna stays busy solving puzzles, and Malachi enjoys video games and playing football. Mr. Davis also cares part-time for 13-year-old Zamaria who is the daughter of a friend. He strives to always make sure Zamaria feels like part of his family. He can't wait to have a backyard where all the children can be outdoors safely. "I am looking forward to grilling, cutting my own lawn, and just sitting on the porch to get some fresh air," he says with a big smile.

Homeownership has always been a goal for Mr. Davis and looks forward to getting his hands dirty on his build site. "I want to be remembered as a peaceful person who loves his kids very much. I am happy to be able to be able to secure a better future for myself, but this is really for my children," he explains. "I want to say thank you to all of my sponsors for giving me this opportunity. It is a true blessing."

The Davis home build will begin in the Fall of 2021 in Columbia.