Dear Members of St. Andrew,

Greetings in Christ Jesus, from the children in Haiti and the ministry of Trinity HOPE. The school year is now half over, and the children continue to be blessed by the nutritious meal you are providing them every school day. For the most part, Haiti has been spared the wide-spread challenges we are facing here in the U.S. with COVID-19. Despite limited medical resources and an inability to effectively social distance in the densely populated areas, God has continued to protect most Haitians from the worst of the pandemic. The children continue to be able to go to school in person, and many are wearing masks in their classrooms. This is a tremendous blessing considering remote learning is really not an option in Haiti.

Unfortunately, the same good news is not the case for the current political conditions in Haiti. Due to the ongoing political turmoil, centered around the strong disapproval and controversy with their current president, safety remains a huge concern. In some of the worst areas, these conditions are preventing parents from sending their children to school because they do not want them walking on the streets. Please continue to pray for the people of Haiti, asking God to protect them and lead them through this difficult time.

Throughout the ups and downs of everyday life, one thing remains grounded in truth. Jesus Christ is still on the throne of victory and is the source of true HOPE for those in Haiti and throughout the world. By providing meals to school children, you are feeding them rice and beans for their stomachs and the Word of God for their heart and soul. THANK YOU for your dedication and commitment to these children! You are truly making a difference.

Enclosed is your school correspondence package from the children you sponsor in Haiti. We hope their drawings, photos, and notes warm your hearts and bring smiles to your faces. Thank you again for your support, and may God continue to bless you and your families.
Serving Christ Together,

Keith Logan
