Join the peloton for 2022 Membership! We are planning on having divided group rides and other events throughout the year including special meet-ups.

Now would be an excellent time to review your goals for 2022. If your goal is to complete a century, your objectives should be to complete 40, 50, 60, and 75 mile rides. Many of our rides fit into these distances, but we all have to stay at it.

This is a great opportunity to control your weight and improve your immune system as we approach the spring! As you noticed, we published our first leaderboard of 2022. Now is the time to compete with your friends or just yourself. Try to move up a place or two before the next Cycling News issue.

In order for us to tally your miles, please join us on Strava by asking to join the WFW Strava Club. Remember, you have to be a Wheelmen member to join.

The West Florida Wheelmen club exists because of you and me and our love to ride our bikes. WFW is always open to new ideas so, please feel free to reach out to any of your board members. You can email us at membership@westfloridawheelmen.org or check out our club website at westfloridawheelmen.org. We are also on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

You always have a voice and we encourage our membership to be involved. Presently, the board meetings are being held at our president's home. If you would like to attend one of these meetings, please contact Jon Tate at president@westfloridawheelmen.org. (This helps us in knowing the numbers for attendance.)

Lastly, we appreciate you—our members! Thank you for sharpening each other, and keeping each other safe during this time. Our club would not exist without you!

Bicycle & Pedestrian Safety Law Recap

Reprinted from Florida Bicycle Association

Jim Dodson

<https://floridabicycle.org/2021/07/bicycle-pedestrian-safety-law-recap/>

For far too long Florida has led the country in the number of injuries and fatalities suffered in bicycle crashes. Fortunately an effort to mitigate that sad statistic and to increase safety for cyclists on our roads is being made.

The state legislature has passed a new bicycle safety law [F.S. 316.003] effective July 1, 2021, and the following is a seven-point summary of its key features. Some of the features are new and some are tweaks to existing law.

- Vehicle drivers overtaking a bicycle, electric bicycle, or non-motorized vehicle occupying the same travel lane or bike lane must pass the bicycle at a distance of at least 3 feet. If motorists cannot safely make such a pass, then they must remain at a safe distance behind the bicycle until they have a 3-foot buffer space and can safely clear the rider.
- In no-passing zones, drivers may briefly drive to the left of the center of the roadway and/or a double yellow line to pass a bicycle or other non-motorized vehicle or electric bicycle.
- At right turn intersections, when drivers are overtaking and passing a bicycle rider proceeding in the same direction, they must make the turn as close as practicable to the right-hand curb or edge of the roadway. They must also signal and make the turn only if the cyclist is at least 20 feet from the intersection. That is what the state legislature has determined to be the distance required for a safe turn, hopefully preventing right-hand hook crashes. In my view this distance is far from adequate in the real world.
- Cyclists intending to turn left in an intersection are entitled to the full use of the lane from which the turn may legally be made. They must, whenever possible, make the left turn in that part of the intersection to the left of the center of the intersection.

- If a bike lane is available, cyclists must ride in it.
- When cycling on a roadway or in a bike lane, riders may not ride more than two abreast except on a designated bicycle path. If the bicycle lane of a roadway is too narrow to allow two persons to ride abreast, they must ride single-file within the bike lane. On roads that are substandard in terms of width cyclists may temporarily ride two abreast only to avoid hazards or to overtake another cyclist.
- When cyclists riding in a group stop at a stop sign—after coming to a full stop and obeying all traffic laws—they may proceed through the stop sign in a group of 10 or fewer at a time. Motorists are required to allow such a group to ride through an intersection before proceeding.
