GLMV Coat Drive for Veterans Underway

GLMV Coat Drive For Vets kickoff at the Vernon Hills Village Hall are (L to R) Vernon Hills Police Officers Zachary Watson and Casey Bergschneider; Village of Vernon Hills Kristen Svendsen and Monica Lundeen; and Mundelein Police Sergeant Brian Kisselburg and Ofc. Steve Simonelli.

The Green Oaks, Libertyville, Mundelein, Vernon Hills (GLMV) Chamber of Commerce, T-Mobile – VH, Shurway Movers, businesses, municipalities, and several veteran’s organizations have launched a special coat drive for veterans in-need and their families.

“Our coat collection for veterans is an ideal way to show our support and thank our vets for their amazing service,” said GLMV President Scott Adams.

For as long as many can remember, there has been a local effort to collect coats and raise awareness for Lake County veterans in-need and at-risk. Originally, the concept was branded Operation Stand Down, led by the Lake County Veteran’s Assistance Commission and participating VFW and American Legion Posts.

Initially, the supply of coats came from stores such as Sears, Value City, and Burlington Coat Factory which all made donations. As those locations began to close, law enforcement and local high schools partnered to collect winter coats and raise awareness of veterans-in-need and the year-around efforts of the Midwest Veteran’s Closet.

However, due to the Covid-19 pandemic, new collection locations were needed, and after learning of the need from GLMV Board Member Jon Petrillo, Village of Vernon Hills, GLMV knew they had to get involved.

Donated items will be given to Midwest Veterans Closet in North Chicago for distribution. Every donated item is much appreciated by the veterans and their families.

So, let’s clean out those closets and donate items to keep our veterans in-need and their families warm this winter. Donations such as old, slightly worn, or new winter coats and other seasonal outerwear are being accepted at the following locations through November 16. All sizes are acceptable.

Businesses interested in being a collection location or for more information, contact the GLMV Chamber of Commerce 847-680-0750 or clevin@glmvcchamber.org
