

Mark H. McCallum

CEO, National Association of Surety Bond Producers

Mark H. McCallum serves as the Chief Executive Officer of the National Association of Surety Bond Producers (NASBP), an international association of companies employing professional surety bond producers and brokers. Mark has devoted his professional career to representing and advocating for the construction and surety industries, having held executive staff positions with the American Institute of Architects and the Associated General Contractors of America before coming to NASBP. Mark was named one of Engineering News Record's Top 25 Newsmakers of 2015 for his successful Congressional advocacy for reform of asset rules regarding individual surety bonds on federal construction contracts. Mark received his B.A. degree from Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tennessee and his J.D. degree from Tulane Law School in New Orleans, Louisiana, and he is a member of the American Society of Association Executives, the Virginia State Bar, and the American Bar Association.