

Harman Rangar

President & CEO, Constructure, Inc.

Harman Rangar is the founder and CEO of Constructure, Inc. which has primarily been involved in government contracting for construction for more than a decade. Having moved to the United States from India in only 2007, Harman has never let cultural differences of where he came from hinder his motivation to succeed. His focus and determination in expanding his work domain is impeccable. Building Strategic partnerships with industry peers to provide turnkey solutions to the federal government is his biggest assets. Harman's specialty lies in ensuring an approachable relationship with every client, which is the secret of his successful affiliations. He is a personable, friendly, person, who comprehends customer expectations when they themselves may not be able to express them. Harman does not hesitate to venture out into new territory, and to prove this, he recently aligned with an Internet Technology (IT) company for a joint venture. He has a passion for new challenges, and in 2017, he even took it upon himself to learn a coding language, which essentially was not at all related to his line of work in Construction, but did this because he strives for personal growth in areas apart from his career. Even his company's website is created by him. Over the last 11 years, Harman along with his associates have successfully delivered several critical projects with superior performance. Because of the excellent performance of his team, Harman has been able to acquire several sole source projects for the company in recent times, and continues to strive for further success. His bonding capacity began with $250,000 in 2012, and has made it to $20,000,000 with this latest project. On a daily basis, Harman shares his vision for the company, along with forecasting with this team. He constantly motivates those around him to be better and to achieve higher. In his free time, Harman enjoys playing the guitar, along with bike rides, and hikes with his wife and children in the woods. The real challenge he faces on a day to day basis though, is finding that free time. Harman's long term goal is to grow Constructure into an experienced, accomplished company in both Construction and IT services and give back the knowledge and experience gained over the years to the younger generation.
