The Terrible Truth

When sexual assault victims seek medical attention and rape kits are performed, those women, men and children are asked to surrender their clothing for DNA evidence. Once clothing has been surrendered, the traumatized victim has nothing else to wear home but a hospital gown… only adding insult to injury. Together, with your help, we can provide victims with the resources necessary to take the first step on the road to healing.

Our Mission

The Grateful Garment Project's mission is to ensure that every victim of a sexual crime who crosses the threshold of a Sexual Assault Response Team facility or who seeks medical attention and/or law enforcement involvement is provided with whatever new clothing, toiletries, snacks, and other miscellaneous items that he or she may require, to reduce further negative impact against their being. We have further expanded our mission and vision to encompass all victims of sexual violence. This includes, but is not limited to Commercially Sexually Exploited Children and victims of Human Sexual Trafficking.

Our Core Programs

Group Volunteer Programs

Is your company interested in participating in a team building activity while serving the community? The Grateful Garment Project has many opportunities for company groups to volunteer at our facility hands-on or virtually! Activities include "hackathons" or helping count garments at our quarterly inventory. The extra help is always needed on weekdays and second Saturday's of the month.

Clothing Drives/Holiday Drives

Can't make it to our facility to volunteer? Hosting a drive is another way to partner with The Grateful Garment Project in returning dignity to victims. We will provide you with collection bins, banners, and any promo necessary to get your drive started! Boost your team's morale through encouraging collecting garments, toiletries, and gift cards for a charitable cause! This is a great opportunity to host a drive for the Holiday season.

Resource Closets: Providing emergency resources for victims of sexual violence once they have undergone a forensic examination or have sought Sexual Violence Service Provider services.

Human Trafficking/CSEC Resources: Provide additional resources (clothing, toiletries, etc.) to safe houses, shelters, and group homes for victims who don't have a safe place to return.

Pack-It Forward: Emergency portable packs provided to Law Enforcement/Sexual Violence Service Providers for human trafficking and CSEC victims.

Youth Gift-Card/Incentive Program: Gift cards provided to encourage youth to attend follow up medical and/or counseling appointments.

Dress for Dignity: Gift cards provided to our clients to be used for the purchase of court appropriate clothing for low income and/or foster care survivors; helping to provide dignity and confidence during the court process

Beautification Projects: Helping transform service provider atmospheres into settings conducive to healing.

The Grateful Garment Project is currently active in 34 California counties. We partner with over 83 agencies across the state who share our commitment to assist victims of sexual violence in our communities. Resources from The Grateful Garment Project are provided to 25-40 women, children and men, every day in California.

Donation Matching

Is your employer willing to match your team's monetary donations? Set a goal with your employer to match amounts given by your team! Donations are often dollar-for-dollar, but some companies are challenged by double or even triple the original donation!

Company Swag Surplus

Did your company print a surplus of shirts, sweaters, or jackets for the team? Have an overflow of printed apparel from past events? Before sending them off to a thrift store, consider donating them to The Grateful Garment Project for survivors to use! Remember, we also collect miscellaneous items such as: tote bags, gloves, stress balls, and journals, so check in with us to see if your swag surplus can be used for victims. Note: all garments must be in new unworn condition to meet hospital requirements.
