

2021 Technician Fun Fair

The AALAS Committee on Technician Awareness & Development (CTAD) invites all exhibiting companies to participate in the 2021 AALAS Technician Fun Fair that will be held on the AALAS Virtual National Meeting October 17-21, 2021.

How the Tech Fair works:

Anyone registered for the meeting will be able to participate. Attendees will be able to open a link or scan a QR code to open the exam. Participants will ferret for answers to an exam comprised of questions submitted by AALAS and by participating exhibiting companies. Anyone receiving an 80% or above on the exam is eligible for numerous prize drawings. Drawings will be held the following week after the meeting. We will post the winners, and prizes along with name of company who provided the prize.

Companies can participate in several ways:

- Submitting questions for the exam
- Donating "winner" prizes which we suggest as gift cards. These can be mailed or emailed to the winners.

What's in it for exhibiting companies?

- Opportunity to showcase your new products and services.
- Ability to broaden the educational and professional horizons of lab animal technicians.
- Very low cost marketing opportunity – help draw attention and participation to your virtual booth.

What's in it for the technicians?

- "Icebreaking" venue to interact with vendors when they might not otherwise do so.
- Opportunity to expand their animal care knowledge beyond what they are already know.
- Fun "scavenger hunt" format adds spice to their National Meeting involvement.
- Opportunity to win prizes and recognition.
- Receipt of CEUs toward the AALAS Certification Registry.

All answers to questions should be found by opening the exhibitor's page, visiting the booth, and reading information watching videos, power points, or pictures. The information should remain there until October 22, 2021 when the exam will close.
