2019 Senior College Festival of Art

Sandi Cirillo has been a fiber/mixed media artist for over 25 years specializing in creating artwork which pleases the eye and craves to be touched. The inspiration for her work focuses on the textural qualities of manmade and natural fibers which she incorporates into her artwork. Her work reflects her love of traveling throughout Maine where she lives and her appreciation of the natural environment around her.

Sandi is a retired art educator who gives many different fiber workshops in the Northeast and North Carolina. She teaches many of her workshops in collaboration with various arts centers throughout the Northeast. She has taught undergraduate and graduate courses at Alfred University and Nazareth College in New York State. She currently teaches drawing and fiber classes at Senior College in Belfast, Maine.

Visit her website www.especially-for-ewe.com to see examples of Sandi's work. You can also see her work at Local Color Gallery in Belfast, Lupine Cottage in Belfast, River Arts in Damariscotta, Ocean's Edge Restaurant in Belfast, Lighthouse Arts Center in Bucksport, The Arts of the Southern Fingerlakes in Corning, New York and Franklin Street Gallery in Watkins Glen, New York. She exhibits her work locally and nationally and her artwork is in many private collections.

Sandi lives in Searsport, Maine where she has her studio and where she teaches many different workshops which are listed on her website.
