

An Advent Quiet Morning – All Creation Waits

“When life as we know it goes, this year and at the end of all years, One comes, and comes bringing a new beginning.”

Gayle Boss

During this Advent Quiet Morning we will heed the call to slow down and listen for the Holy. With meditations on animals and the natural world from All Creation Waits by Gayle Boss, we will spend time in silence and in personal reflection on the challenges and promises of this quiet season.

Saturday, December 2
9:30 am -12:30 pm
St. Luke’s Episcopal Church – Hamilton Hall
219 Chunn’s Cove Road, Asheville

The Quiet Morning will conclude at 12:30. Those who wish may bring a lunch and stay longer. The church, grounds and labyrinth are available for afternoon reflection, and Hamilton Hall will remain open until dusk.

Please bring a journal and pen and wear comfortable, warm clothes as we will spend time walking outdoors, weather permitting. You may want to purchase a copy of the book for your own use.

We can accommodate 25 cars. Please register at office@stlukesavl.org. Love offering donations are appreciated.

For more information, please contact the Rev. Patty Mouer at 254-2133.
