

St. Andrew's Recycling an Old Oak Tree

St. Andrew's (100+ yo) Church had a huge oak that sadly had to be taken down for safety concerns. Villary LaRue envisioned something to honor the old tree with part of its trunk. Using some tin from Charlie & Carolyn Marth, she constructed a Free Little Library site on the saved 10 foot stump. With the help of iconographer Melissa Moss's talents, donated books & other items from church members, ours is one of the many official Free Little Library sites registered across the state and nation.

It has a cabinet of books for children and one for adults that can be borrowed, shared, returned or kept. We also offer a tiny Jesus figure and a card with the Lord's Prayer if you would like to "take a little Jesus with you."

Pictured is a young visitor from town with her mom (who happened to drive up while we were taking pictures) to leave some of her own books to share with other kids.

And that's what our old oak tree is all about now!
