COMMITTED ACCESSIBILITY

We believe our church health efforts and initiatives must be within reach of every pastor and every congregation, regardless of church size or geographic location. We believe a commitment of time, focus, and resources must be made to fulfill our mission.

This fall, the Acts 2 Journey team will begin work on scalable digital delivery of the Acts 2 Journey cohort to provide pastors and their leaders with more opportunities to engage in the process.

If you'd like to learn more about the Acts 2 Journey, mentoring ministry leaders through the Acts 2 process, or pastoral transition training, make plans to join us in Springfield, MO, November 9–11 for the Acts 2 Journey Intensive.

Registration cost is $299.

CULTURAL RELEVANCE

We believe that cultural relevance is achieved by contextualization, adaptability, innovation, and continual improvement enabled by the Holy Spirit. Some measures indicate that almost one-third of churches in the U.S. will go through pastoral transitions in the next decade. Unfortunately, many of these leadership transitions will happen by default rather than by design.

Listen to the podcast conversation between AG USA Superintendent Doug Clay and Acts 2 Journey team member Ron McManus about how the Acts 2 Journey Initiative is responding to the growing need for equipping leaders to handle pastoral transition and succession.

TEAM PARTNERSHIP

We believe that local church health requires a team and cannot be achieved by the pastor alone. The challenging journey to health requires multiple gifts and the kind of encouragement only a team can provide.

Unless pastors can develop the potential leaders that God has placed around them, the church will struggle to reach its next-level potential. Regardless of the size of the church or the personality of the leader, a healthy change process is impossible without the guidance of the Holy Spirit and a committed team.

For this reason, the Acts 2 Journey has been working alongside Dr. Mike Oney and the Paul to Timothy Institute to create a clear process for equipping pastors to mentor their ministry leaders and develop a church's leadership pipeline.
