Relationships Matter: Navigating Adolescent Relationships

Wednesday, April 18 / 8 am to 3 pm

DoubleTree by Hilton Hotel Austin / Austin, Texas

Cost: $100 ~~X~~ $75 for TCA Members

When registering, Use Discount Reg Code: 41818

This workshop will share research on the importance of relationships in adolescent development, including with peers, parents, and romantic partners. Attendees will explore relationship education programs (including dating violence programs) and social emotional learning programs, and examine four approaches to incorporating relationship content in pregnancy prevention or health education programs (developmental, reframing, drawing from the literature, and using youth voice). Speakers will share how to add relationship content to existing programming, as well as discuss social media and its influence on relationship development. Attendees will practice addressing common and sensitive relationship questions from youth in a way to preserve autonomy and receive resources for promoting quality relationships. By the end of the workshop, participants, will:

- Be able to explain the importance of relationships in adolescent development.
- Cite examples of evidence-based relationship education and social emotional learning programs.
- Describe factors that influence relationship development.
- Formulate a plan to incorporate relationship content and skills in their existing pregnancy prevention and/or health education programs.
- Address common and sensitive relationship questions in a way to preserve autonomy.
- Earn six hours of social work, licensed professional counselor, or certified health specialist continuing education contact hour credits.

Workshop Presenter

Karin Coyle, PhD
ETR Associates

Serving as the Chief Science Officer at ETR, Dr. Karin Coyle specializes in the development and evaluation of health promotion programs, particularly HIV, other STD, and pregnancy prevention programs. She currently serves as the principal investigator on multiple randomized trials, including a middle school randomized trial that is testing the efficacy of a curriculum and social norms program focusing on adolescent relationships and related sexual behaviors (You-Me-Us), and a replication study of an evidenced-based middle school program entitled It's Your Game. She also plays a lead role in several other evaluation projects.
