Unclaimed Funds Kicks Off Competition With Michigan

Last week, the Division of Unclaimed Funds kicked off a competition with the Michigan Treasury Department to see which state's residents can find and claim the most unclaimed funds during the month of November.

The competition revolves around the rivalry between the states on the football field, specifically Ohio State and Michigan.

If you haven't already, this is a perfect time to get in on the competition and search for your unclaimed funds at missingmoney.com! Help the division beat Michigan while putting your money back in your pocket!
