

Commerce Connects

Darin Furderer is Employee of the Quarter

Darin Furderer, an investigator in the Division of Real Estate and Professional Licensing, has been named Commerce's newest Employee of the Quarter. Director Maxfield and Assistant Director and Chief of Staff Charity Robl, along with the leadership team in the Division of Real Estate presented Darin with his Employee of the Quarter certificate last Thursday.

Darin is known amongst his colleagues as a constant source of knowledge and productivity. His motivation to produce high-quality investigations, coupled with his professionalism and commitment to excellent customer service, has set him apart.

This past quarter, Darin has truly gone above and beyond. Despite managing a high caseload, he undertook the investigation of a series of high-profile cases involving numerous complainants. The party involved in these cases has attracted national attention, but this did not deter Darin. He worked tirelessly on these cases while maintaining focus on his other cases.

These high-profile cases are currently awaiting hearings, as are many other cases that Darin finalized during the quarter. His ability to manage such a challenging workload with consistent quality is commendable.

Darin's work ethic is a testament to his pride in his role and his commitment to the Division of Real Estate at the Department of Commerce.

Congratulations, Darin!

