Bridgeway President and CEO Cory Storch Honored with Good Scout Award

Recognized for decades of leadership, advocacy and service to the community

Bridgeway Behavioral Health Services proudly congratulates President and CEO Cory Storch, who received the prestigious Good Scout Award from Scouting America's Patriots' Path Council during its annual Good Scout Awards Dinner on Wednesday, October 14, 2026, at Galloping Hill Caterers in Union, NJ.

The Good Scout Award recognizes outstanding community members who exemplify the spirit of "service beyond self" through leadership, volunteerism and a lasting commitment to making Union a better place to live and work.

For nearly 50 years, Cory has dedicated his career to improving the lives of individuals experiencing serious mental health challenges. Since joining Bridgeway in 1977, he has served in numerous leadership roles, including Team Leader, Program Director and Executive Director, before becoming President and CEO.

Throughout his career, Cory has championed the belief that people living with mental health conditions deserve dignity, opportunity and access to compassionate, community-based care. Under his leadership, Bridgeway has expanded its services and strengthened partnerships that help thousands of New Jersey residents pursue wellness, recovery and independence.

But Cory's leadership extends far beyond organizational accomplishments. Colleagues know him as someone who genuinely cares about the individuals Bridgeway serves, supports his staff and consistently leads by example. His compassion, humility and unwavering commitment to others embody the very qualities celebrated by the Good Scout Award.

An accomplished outdoorsman who has climbed all 48 of New Hampshire's 4,000-foot peaks, Cory also shares Scouting's appreciation for perseverance, adventure and personal achievement.

The annual Good Scout Awards Dinner brought together community leaders and supporters to celebrate individuals whose service makes a meaningful difference, while raising funds to support local Scouting programs.

Congratulations, Cory, on this well-deserved honor and thank you for your extraordinary commitment to Bridgeway, the people we serve and the communities we call home!
