

City of Worcester Honors Volunteers

City Manager Edward Augustus, Jr., congratulates George Cortes as he presents him with his award

Worcester Mayor Joseph M. Petty and City Manager Edward M. Augustus, Jr., together with several City Councilors, honored the more than 200 volunteers that help the City every year with everything from serving on boards and commissions, assisting at the Worcester Public Library, and cleaning City parks. One of these honorees was CMWIB Career Center/Adult Career Services Committee member George Cortes, who has volunteered with the CMWIB for several years, as well as other City committees. The award presentations were made during a ceremony celebrating volunteer month held in the Levy Lincoln room at City Hall on Tuesday, April 10th.

From L to R: City Manager Edward Augustus, Jr., Councilor Sarai Rivera, George Cortes, Councilor Khrystian King, Councilor Candy Mero-Carlson, Jeannie Michelson of the City Manager's office, and Mayor Joseph Petty
