

How to Stay in the Know

About Jessamine County Government Departments and Topics

Some questions, like “Where is the County Clerk’s office, or “How do I contact Animal Care and Control?” are easy to answer.

In fact, a quick visit to Jessamine County Fiscal Court’s website, JessamineCo.com, reveals the many ways our tax dollars work for us on a daily basis, providing services and departments such as: Jessamine County Emergency Medical Services and E-911, Animal Shelter, and much more. Each department offers a list of its services and contact information.

Other questions can be more difficult, such as how to:

- Find a special but affordable spot for a wedding, family reunion, or corporate event
- Make sure E-911 can help you or a loved one as quickly as possible in an emergency
- Check on your voter registration and polling place and/or work at a Jessamine County polling center
- Discover who purchased your great grandparents’ farm and who owns it now

• Plan your "stay-cation" around Jessamine County's signature events

From the County Attorney’s office to Parks and Recreation, each and every Jessamine County Fiscal Court department strives to answer as many of our citizens’ questions as possible—and then some. It doesn’t hurt, though, to get a little help—and that’s what this “How To” issue of Jessamine Matters offers.

Along the way, you might even discover answers to questions you hadn’t thought to ask.

Have a question that isn't covered in this issue of Jessamine Matters?

Visit JessamineCo.com and browse through the list of departments on the left hand side of the site’s home page.

Still not sure? Call the Jessamine County Judge Executive’s office at 859-885-4500. We’re here, as always, to help ensure that Jessamine County is a great place to live, work and play!

From tips on how to support Camp Nelson by checking a box on your tax return, to news that the Jessamine County Clerk’s Office now has a satellite location in Wilmore, and reminders of local events supported by Jessamine County Fiscal Court, the “Jessamine County, Kentucky” Facebook page offers an informal source of interesting and useful information.

In addition to sharing brief excerpts of county press releases and notices on a regular basis, the page also offers links to the websites and Facebook pages of other county organizations, including the Jessamine County Health Department, Jessamine County Trails Association, the City of Wilmore and Nicholasville Facebook pages and websites.

Although it is not meant to be a formal or comprehensive source of information, the “Jessamine County, Kentucky” Facebook page offers a quick and easy way to keep in touch with county-related topics.
