New changes to bundled service of Medtronic IN.PACT

Effective Oct. 2023, the Medtronic IN.PACT Admiral Paclitaxel-coated Percutaneous Transluminal Angioplasty (PTA) Balloon Catheter (Medtronic DCB) used as a drug-coated balloon to re-open blocked or narrowed arteries in the thigh and knee due to peripheral artery disease (PAD) will not be separately payable. The Medtronic IN.PACT will be denied as a bundled service. For Medicaid and Medicare Advantage members, Medtronic IN.PACT will remain a non-covered services as services are bundled with the procedure.
