Security partners with Curant Health to support members with congestive heart failure

Nearly 600 of Security Health Plan's Medicare Advantage members who have a congestive heart failure (CHF) diagnosis have been offered no-cost help to support improved quality of life and effective medication use. Starting in April, selected members can participate in the Medication Care Management® program offered by Curant Health, a national patient support organization. Curant Health nurse care managers, pharmacists, medical assistants and pharmacy technicians provide these members with the tools and support they need to actively manage their health, enrich their lives and feel their best every day.

If you have patients who are receiving CHF support from Curant Health and would like more information about the Medication Care Management program, contact Anthony Esposito at AEsposito@curanthealth.com.
